WARRIOR MOTHERS RECEIVED

One Hundred Attend the Function at Chamber of Commerce

IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

Work of the Organization
Is Outlined in Connection with State Bonus

About one hundred were present at the reception for delegates to the state convention of War Mothers (now being held in Los Angeles), which was given in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce Friday evening, with Mrs. Estella H. Hock, secretary, presiding, in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. B. Sherwood, who is ill.

Southern California chapters were well represented, and special guests of honor were delegates from the north, including Mrs. M. P. Murray of Oakland, who has just been re-elected president of the state organization. The members from her own chapter who were guests were Mesdames A. G. Waterhouse, C. E. Haynes, W. Millar, O. J. Uzafoye, R. Rishell, W. Lathrop and J. Samuels. Others from the north were Mrs. P. T. Phillips and Mrs. Julia Downey of Santa Cruz, and Mrs. Dodge of Watsonville.

The program opened with the singing of "America," led by Mayor Spencer Robinson, and prayer by Rev. Harley G. Preston.

Two addresses followed, the first by Rev. Preston, the second by Commander James F. McBryde of Glendale post, American Legion.

Mr. Preston declared if he were permitted to worship any human being, it would be "mother." He spoke very beautifully of his own mother and of mothers in general, and said the "apron strings" it used to be so popular to deride, have been transformed into unbreakable cables of love. He asked the mothers to vote for the Wright law for the enforcement of prohibition, and for the $10,000,000 bond issue for the benefit of ex-service men of California, and also urged them to support by their influence the movement being promoted by the American Legion to check the influx of aliens and prevent their voting to them of citizenship until they have demonstrated that they love the American flag and the principles it represents.

Commander McBryde talked along similar lines, pointing out definite work the War Mothers can do to help the legislation for ex-service men in this state, such as registering, and seeing that others register and vote for the $10,000,000 bond issue, and keeping in close touch and sympathy with the American Legion Auxiliary and other organizations working with the same purpose.

Mrs. Mary N. Drake told several good stories, and Doris Becker recited "Silence," a most unusual unrhymed poem by Edgar Lee Masters, and "The Bachante and Her Babe."

A very fine musical program was also given, Miss Viola Yorba singing "La Paloma," "There's a Little Brown Road," and another, a Spanish song, for which Mrs. Spencer Robinson played the accompaniment.

Mrs. Arthur Sisley, who has a big, bell-like voice, sang two numbers, one of them being "In the Dark, In the Dew." Miss Dossie acted as her accompanist.

The concluding numbers were by the popular local quartet composed of Dr. P. O. Lucas, Dr. C. R. Lusby, Paul and Frank Butterfield, who is always a treat to hear them sing.

Delicious refreshments of several kinds of home-made cake were served with ice cream at the close of the program by the hospitality committee, which included Mesdames J. N. McGillis, L. T. Rowley, H. C. Webb, and assisting ladies.

DELGARDO RETURNS TO POLICE FORCE

Notice was posted yesterday in the police department that George Delgado had been reappointed to the force as patrolman.

Delgado was at one time detective sergeant in the department. He was dismissed several months ago in connection with charges filed by himself, another patrolman against former Chief of Police A. O. Martin, who was also dismissed from the force.

POSTMASTER TO RETURN SUNDAY

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson is expected to return from the Shrine convention in San Francisco to-morrow night. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have been in the northern city for several days, attending the convention.

Mr. Jackson still has several days left of his vacation, but Assistant Postmaster George Hallett and employees of the local office are betting that he will forget these extra days and be on the job bright and early Monday morning.

Planet of Mystery Discussed Tonight on Editorial Page

Mars, the planet of mystery, is now closest to earth. Tomorrow, Sunday, Mars will be 42,360,000 miles away, a considerable distance to be sure, but the closest since 1909. In 1924 Mars will be within 34,600,000 miles of the earth. The Martian canals on Mars were discovered 45 years ago. Astronomers can see the polar caps of white and dusky, grey-green markings against a reddish-ochre background. They all agreed upon certain facts and disagree upon others. Tonight on the editorial page Isabel M. Lewis of the United States Naval Observatory has an article upon Mars. You will find it of interest just as you will find James W. Foley's philosophy in "The Listening Post" touching on noxious and evil things interesting and instructive.

Then there is Henry James' comment on the news of the day and especially his treatment of the persecution of a Jew at Annapolis that will appeal to you.

You will find other features including Dr. Frank Crane, John Pilgrim and two columns of excellent editorial. There is no better editorial page published on the Pacific coast. It is a world of interest and information.

MERCHANTS' TEAM TO MEET NEW VICTIM

Armstrong Auto Co. to Send Outfit to Glendale

Another aggregation of baseball players is coming to Glendale, to try and break the winning streak of the Glendale Merchants. This time it is the Armstrong Auto company team that will cross bats with the locals at Park avenue and San Fernando road.

This is the fifth team that has held the same hope and after the game still had hopes—that some other team could do it. Teams in the Managers' association have about reached the conclusion that the Merchants carry a brand of baseball in stock that is unbeatable.

Boss Cobb of the locals has built up an aggregation of pastimers that in the immortal words of the great General Pershing are "There." There has been a high average batter visited Glendale with opposing teams, only to leave with the knowledge that there are still a few styles of pitching that can't be hit. If the batters do connect with the pill, they can't seem to put it past the fielders. Most of the time the old horsehide settles gracefully into the mitt of one of the infield and the umpire does the rest.

The battery for tomorrow's game is, to be slangy, a "pip." Jack Kearns will be on the mound, with "Husky" King on the reception committee. This battery works together like corned beef and cabbage or ham and eggs.

Boss Cobb is a real Nick Carter when it comes to uncovering talent. Just recently he added Alexander, a former league star, to his staff of hurlers and announces that he will work "Alex" on the mound in the near future. Alexander looks like good material and has plenty of "stuff" on the pill.

The lineup tomorrow will be: Battery, Kearns and King; Acosta, third base; Wilson, shortstop; Bell, first base; Merz, second base; Cobb, right field; Flanders, left field, and Cummings, center field.

A casual glance over the lineup looks like it will be a tough day for the Armstrong pastimers. If the "dope" does not go wrong it looks like the visitors will go home wreathed in defeat and gloom.

NEW BOARD

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The new agricultural representative on the federal reserve board as provided by the bill recently passed by congress, will either be J. R. Howard of Iowa, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, or Milo D. Campbell of Michigan, another farm organization leader, according to authoritative information here today.

President Harding is expected to announce the nomination early next week.

CONVENTION ENDS

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., June 17.—The annual convention of the Native Daughters of the Golden West was ended today when delegates began departing for their homes. Closing business of the session included adoption of a petition to congress urging exclusion of all aliens ineligible to American citizenship.

TO BAR BOOZE

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Congress was asked today in a bill introduced by Representative Edmonds, republican, of Pennsylvania, to bar from American ports any vessel, domestic or foreign, which carries or sells intoxicating liquors. Penalty for violation would be a $10,000 fine, with seizure of the vessel until the fine was paid.

RAIL-MINE UNIONS IN CONFERENCE

Executives Are to Meet on Joint Strike
Action

NO SEPARATE PEACE

Possibility of Federal Action Against Combination
Is Considered

CINCINNATI, June 17.—Rail union executives and United Mine officials will meet in joint conference next Tuesday evening, it was decided today in a brief preliminary conference, attended by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and B. M. Jewell, representing the railroad workers. The conference will discuss joint strike action between the two organizations.

In the meantime Lewis will confer with miners' officials and Jewell with railroad chiefs concerning special questions to be brought before the conference. One suggestion made today was that the rail unions would assist the striking coal miners by refusing to handle coal mined by non-union miners.

Agreement that a separate peace will not be made by either the striking coal miners or the rail workers who are about to strike was sought at conference here of rail union executives and Lewis.

Such action, if agreed on, would commit both miners and rail workers to stay on strike until both had won.

The move for joint action of two great labor organizations had stirred labor circles as nothing else that has occurred since the convention of the American Federation of Labor met here on Monday. The possibilities are "vast and far-reaching," a federation leader said today.

Federation officials will closely follow the conference.

The possibility that the mine workers and rail unions might run foul of the federal courts on the charge of conspiracy to set at naught a federal law was being discussed in American Federation of Labor circles. The railroad unions are frankly out to "get" the Esch-Cummings law and the railway labor board.

MARS IS WATCHED IN CALIFORNIA

All Astronomers Turn
Lenses Toward the Visitor

eries of interest and importance with regard to the planet Mars, already have been made by astronomers in California studying the planet, which now is nearest to earth it has been since it became a source of major interest.

Dr. A. O. Leuschner, professor of astronomy at the University of California, made that announcement today, but added that data is not yet complete and cannot yet be given to the public.

Leuschner personally is engaged in making both spectroscopic and photographic observations of Mars through which he hopes to ascertain the atmospheric constitution of the planet. If that can be determined, Leuschner believes, it may be possible to answer the question of what kind of life, if any, exists on the earth's neighbor.

"We have no reason to deny that life exists there," Prof. Leuschner said. "The organisms may be different from the organism of this world, but as wide a variety of organisms may exist on the planet as exist on earth."

CHIEF OF POLICE GOES TO MEETING

Chief of Police John D. Fraser left this morning for San Francisco to attend the convention of police chiefs from all over the United States. During his absence, Lieut. Joe Griffin will be in charge of the department. The chief was accompanied on the trip by his wife and nephew, Kenneth Jackson. They are making the trip by automobile, and plan to return to Glendale either Wednesday or Thursday.

SINN FEIN RAIDS KILLS AND BURNS

BELFAST, June 17.—Daring British troops stationed along the Lister frontier, Sinn Fein armed bands during the night massacred four men and a woman, burned five houses of protestant farmers in the Bessbrook district.

This was the first attack by Sinn Fein in the Ulster since British troops drove them from Pettigo and cleared all the invaders from the north, side of the border.

ACCIDENT FATAL TO FAMED STAGE BEAUTY

A slight accident, sustained on shipboard while on her way to Europe to study immigration conditions as President Harding's representative and to which she paid no attention at the time, caused the death of Mrs. Alexander P. Moore, wife of the publisher of the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Leader. Mrs. Moore was the famed Lillian Russell of bygone days, "the airy, fairy Lillian" of the comic opera stage. This is her latest gallery portrait.

GOV. STEPHENS TO ANNOUNCE HIS CANDIDACY

Formal Statement Expected
Shorely; Result of Petitions

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Formal announcement of the candidacy of Governor William D. Stephens for re-election will be made within a few days, it was learned today from sources close to the governor. That signatures on petitions requesting the governor to seek re-election are being secured in three counties and that papers announcing the governor's candidacy are being prepared was learned from the same source.

According to Arthur Keetch, secretary to the governor, Stephens and a number of state executives will return to Los Angeles soon and make summer headquarters here. Keetch left here today for Sacramento.

HARDING REFUSES TO FIRE DEMOCRATS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Harding will not accede to the petition of more than 100 republican members of congress that about 150 alleged democrats be ousted from the treasury department, it was authoritatively learned today.

The president shares the view of Secretary of Treasury Mellon that most of the treasury employees listed on the republican political "black list" as democrats are persons of long experience in important work of administering government finances and that there has been no evidence of democratic activities on their part.

The president's action has staved off a crisis in his cabinet. It was known that Mellon was so strongly opposed to the petition that should its demands have been upheld by the president, his resignation and that of Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair were all most certain.

Harding believes that politics should not be allowed to interfere with the work of the department. Under Secretary of the Treasury Gilbert, one of those on the political "black list," today wrote a letter to Representative Begg, Ohio, one of the sponsors of the petition, denying the charges of activity in the Cox campaign, and stating that he had always been a republican.

BANDIT GARCIA SLAIN

CALEXICO, Cal., June 17.—Francisco Garcia, noted Mexican bandit and eight of his "army," were slain last night when they attempted to rob a Mexican Southern Pacific train carrying $450,000 to Los Angeles for use in paying the Obregon government's debt. The bandits attacked the train south of Mazatlan, but were beaten off by guards.

ADMIT ATTACK

CHICAGO, June 17.—Eight men were arrested today in connection with the kidnaping and beating of William Kehoe, president of the Westside Motor company.

The leader of the band of eight admitted the attack.

Deputy sheriffs came upon the night riders as they were pounding their victim into insensibility.

The leader said they wished to punish Kehoe for taking his stenographer to a road house.

CHILDREN'S SHOW IS MARVEL OF YOUTH

Keller Pupils Amid Beautiful Stage Setting, Give Vaudeville

Glendalians have had opportunity to watch the development of the Pearl Keller School of Dramatic Art and Dancing which was termed its commencement, i. e. the annual society vaudeville, at which the work of pupils is demonstrated. They were not disappointed in the spectacle Friday night when between 75 and 80 children all talented and wonderfully taught, appeared upon the platform in either group or solo numbers.

Beautiful stage settings and charming costumes enhanced the effect of the artistic work of the little entertainers. Nothing prettier has been seen in Glendale for a long, long time.

The program was progressive beginning with the young pupils and developing by natural evolution into the more difficult solo performances of the advanced pupils, Dorothy Dutton, Shirley and Glen Hitchcock, Leona and Evelyn Hunt, Cecilia Mae Fischer, the Turner sisters, Genevieve and Eleanor Marek, Rosanita Ruggiero, Gould Moore, Mary Alice Ross, Grace Yarbrough, Helen Orr, and others whose dancing is it always a pleasure to see.

A high point of enthusiasm was reached by the audience when the beginners' class composed of wee folk not quite sure of themselves but conscientiously doing as they had been taught with the sweetest of hearts, presented a series of mother goose dances picturing "Polly Put the Kettle On," "Bo-Peep," "Mary, Mary Quite Contrary," "Little Boy Blue," "Little Miss Muffet," and "Tom, Tom the Piper's Son."

Baby Jane Stewart, not yet 2½ years old, a lovely picture of dimpled babyhood, brought enthusiastic interest to a climax in the garden dance in which she appeared with Dorothy Dutton, Shirley and Glen Hitchcock, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Leona and Evelyn Hunt and Helen Orr. It was a very beautiful and altogether charming number. But that might be said of everything on the program every one of which won deserved applause from start to finish.

This recital has confirmed the already high reputation of the school conducted by Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattin and will doubtless bring her a host of new pupils when it reopens the middle of September.

No insignificant feature of the program was the fine work of the accompanists, Mrs. J. A. Wright and Miss Gertrude Champlain, and the contributions by Paul Carson, organist.

BOND ISSUE UPHELD

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—The state supreme court today handed down a decision upholding the validity of the $10,000,000 bond issue voted at the last state election to finance the war veterans' welfare program.

BALK AT GIRLS

BAYSIDE, N. Y., June 17.—Bayside golfers are in revolt against girl cadettes. They say the links is no place for a girl.

They are endeavoring to ask golf club officials to restore boy cadettes.

DRIVE FOR WRIGHT LAW IS STAGED

Tentative Organization of Support for Governor's Measure Is Effected

UNITY OF ACTION

Judge Thomas of Santa
Ana Wins Approval
of Measure

Initial steps in the forming of an organization in Glendale to work for the passage of the Wright bill at the coming November elections were taken last night at the meeting of the Federated Brotherhood of Glendale, held at the First Methodist church. This consisted of five members of the brotherhood from each church, the work of this combined committee to be to make suggestions with regard to the formation of the campaign organization, and to nominate officers for the same, these to be finally selected at a future meeting of the brotherhood.

What the Wright measure is and what it is intended to do was very clearly outlined by Judge William H. Thomas of Santa Ana, the speaker of the evening. He said that it is not a "wet" or "dry" proposition in any form, but, if enacted, the law would simply support the 18th amendment. In other words, the enacting of this bill would place at the disposal of the dry leaders more than 200 courts, 20,000 state officials, including district attorneys, sheriffs, etc., while at the present time there are but 22 officials supporting this amendment in the state of California. And all this would be done without the adding of one cent of taxation.

Judge Thomas stated that the method of operation in the organization to be formed should be as follows: By organization, by getting the facts and passing them on to the people, by registration, and by getting the voters to the polls on election day. It is believed that by the precinct method of operation the Wright bill can be voted.

"There are lots of people," said Judge Thomas, "who say a great deal about prohibition being a grand thing, but when it comes to voting on election day, they go to the beaches or the hills. It is the voters who vote that we want. If the people will vote in this election we will not be afraid of the result."

Judge Thomas was introduced by G. L. Buck, county organizer for the Wright enforcement law campaign, and Mr. Buck was, in turn, presented by Mr. Guernsey, president of the Federated Brotherhood of Glendale.

Those in attendance at this meeting showed considerable enthusiasm with regard to the coming struggle in connection with the Wright bill, and if the interest shown is any criterion, it is evident that an extremely earnest campaign will be conducted in Glendale.

LEWIS DECLINES TO OPPOSE GOMPERS

Declares Strike Is Keeping
His Hands Very Busy

CINCINNATI, June 17.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today announced he would not be a candidate against Samuel Gompers for the presidency of the American Federation of Labor.

Arriving here today to attend the federation convention, Lewis said: "I positively am not and will not be a candidate. I have a job in hand in the shape of a strike, and I can see no further than that."

CALIFORNIA WINS

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, June 17.—The California track and field team added to its glory here today by winning the international meet. The victory over leading athletes from all sections of the country, follows a victory by the Bears in the eastern meet recently.

REFUSES FORD

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Ford offer for Muscle Shoals cannot come before congress at this session, Senator Harris stated in the senate today during debate on charges that propaganda is being carried on in favor of adoption of the Ford offer.

MORVICH DEFEATED

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, NEW YORK, June 17.—Morvich, the sensational three-year-old, met defeat for the first time in the Carleton stakes here today. Whiskaway won. Morvich was second; Snob II, third. Time for the distance, one mile, was 1:36 2-5.

Iowa Senatorial Nominee Says He's Dirt Farmer

DES MOINES, Ia., June 17.—Col. Smith Brookhart, progressive republican senatorial nominee, is just a "plain dirt farmer," he said when he goes to Washington, D. C., as Iowa's next senator, he is going to "check out" on the social ring. The progressive candidate today took a severe rap at Washington's "social lobby."

"It is the most sinister of all the lobbies at Washington," he told the United Press in an interview. "They can count me out of the social stuff," said the colonel. "I am more proud of my overalls than my dress suit. I am going to Washington in the interests of the farmers and laborers and those business men in sympathy with progressive government."

"These men did not vote for me because of my social finesse. And they are not sending me to Washington to pose gracefully at banquet tables and parlor parties."

"It is the most contemptible of all influences," he declared. "I love the society of my neighbors and fellow men, but when a man in high public office is feted and favored for ulterior political motives, he is flirting with bribery of the worst kind."

SAMPLE FIRE HOSE WREATHS CITY HALL

Short Lengths Offered for Contract, Enwraps
Officials

Samples of fire hose are flooding the city hall. The chief of police is swamped with short lengths of the hose. City Manager Reeves' desk is rapidly filling up with the samples, and, strange to say, each sample represents the "best fire hose made"—the salesmen all admit their hose is the best on the market.

The city of Glendale is in the market for some new hose, and the word has been passed around among the salesmen. Fire Chief Lankford said this morning: "If many more samples are sent to the city we will not have to buy any hose. We can just connect the samples and have enough to supply our needs."

City Manager Reeves is busy today. He is busy inspecting the various samples being submitted to him, and listening to the salesmen extol the virtues of their particular products. Mr. Reeves said this morning: "I never knew before that so many companies produced absolutely the best fire hose made. I have interviewed numbers of salesmen, and each and every one has admitted to me—freely that his product is the best on the market."

CHARGE FRAUD IN DISSENTING VOTE

CHICAGO, June 17.—Part of a dissenting opinion of members of the United States railroad labor board, objecting to wage cuts, was written in railroad union headquarters here, majority members of the board charged today.

The charges, following announcement of an additional cut of $23,000,000 per year from wages of 3,000,000 workers, stated a profound sensation in railroad labor circles here.

The majority members, representing the public and the railroad, claiming the dissenting opinion filed by representatives of labor did not represent the belief of the labor representatives on the board.

It was written, in part, at least, by employees of railroad departments of the American Federation of Labor.

MORE COMPANY

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—With Rodolph Valentino and Frank Mayo as passengers, the figurative one-man car of Bert Claudius, motorman, has jumped the tracks of matrimony. This is the statement of Deputy District Attorney McClelland, who today declared that indictments on charges of bigamy will be asked against the three men when the grand jury is summoned June 26.

WILSON TO CONTEST

DALLAS, Tex., June 17.—Further participation of former President Woodrow Wilson in the coming congressional political contest, was announced here today when campaign headquarters of Senator Charles A. Culbertson, running for re-election gave out a letter declaring Wilson was sorry Culbertson had been "brought under criticism."

The letter, written by James Randolph Bolling, secretary, at Wilson's direction, was to Mrs. C. R. Fields, of Dallas, and was interpreted as notice that Wilson has come out in support of Culbertson.

ARREST MINERS

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 17.—Authorities today arrested 75 union miners in Silgo county on bench warrants charging rioting. Warrants were sworn out by mine operators of Clay county following disorders at mines when union strikers attempted to force nonunion men to quit work.

Acceptance of New Treatment Is Requirement Stipulated

INDIANAPOLIS, June 17.—The straight and narrow path of "righteousness was wider today. Modern religion has made it a boulevard. The rise of progressive interpretation of the Bible in the Northern Baptist convention here, permits every Baptist to form his own creed.

The only requirement is that he accept the teachings of the New Testament, said Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery of Rochester, N. Y., president of the convention. Ultra conservatives lost their fight to force through a confession of faith.

"You might as well close all your Sunday schools, you might as well stop all your preachers, you might as well close your theological seminaries, you might as well stop the programs of the missionaries, and devote all your promotional money to printing and distributing the New Testament," said Dr. J. M. Moore, leader of the "hard shells" when the liberals won.

GLENDALE TO SEND DELEGATION TO C. E. MEETING

Booster Gathering in the Presbyterian Church
Shows Enthusiasm

The big booster meeting held at the Glendale Presbyterian church Friday evening to promote attendance at the state Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Oakland, served its purpose well, and, from the reports presented, it appears that Glendale district will send its full quota.

The early part of the evening was devoted to games calculated to carry out the purpose of the gathering, the boys and girls being organized in teams to secure the names of those intending to go to Oakland, with a prize for the one who secured the largest list.

The short program presented included readings by Miss Florence Stevens; the intermediate C. E. organization of the Glendale Presbyterian church gave a funny skit about going to Oakland, and Paul C. Brown made an address calculated to arouse enthusiasm and stimulate registration for convention attendance.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, of which Miss Helen Engle is chairman. Harry Marple, district president, was unable to be present on account of the serious illness of his mother.

THE WEATHER

FRIENDS OF ALBERT S. FUNK MOURN HIS DEATH

Sterling Character of Aged Iowan Is Told in History

The passing of Albert S. Funk, 401 North Jackson street, came as a great shock to his many friends. Funeral services were held Wednesday, June 14, from the Little Church of the Flowers, with interment at Forest Lawn cemetery. He was born October 20, 1848, at Hannibal, Mo. His early life was spent in Illinois and Iowa. At the age of 16 he united with the Baptist church. In later life he affiliated with the United Presbyterian church.

In 1880 he was united in marriage to Miss L. Belle Shreeves of Murray, Iowa, who survives him. In 1903 the couple went to Nampa, Idaho, where they resided until about a year ago, when they moved to Glendale.

Mr. Funk was a man of strict integrity and strong religious convictions. He was the eldest of a family of six, two brothers and three sisters, who survive him, these being A. B. Funk of Des Moines, Ia.; George H. Funk of Selkirk, Minn.; Mrs. Jennie Stapleton of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Addie B. Van Steenburg of Spirit Lake, Ia.; and Mrs. Anna F. Wood of San Diego, who is present today. Rev. Edmonds and Anna Tinning were the ministers who spoke words of comfort to the friends of Mr. Funk. The wife of his youth will miss him most, for he was a very devoted husband.

Just as the sun was sinking behind the hills, Mr. Funk's body was taken to the Little Church of the Flowers, on Wednesday, June 14, where the flowers are brighter and birds sing sweeter. After a short service of praise by the ministers of his choice, and a solo by Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, also one by Margaret Dick Penland, his body was laid to rest in one of the most beautiful spots in Forest Lawn cemetery—where it is summer all the year, flowers covering the ground everywhere.

"Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Him who is the Author and Finisher of our faith."

BAKE-RITE OPENS SECOND STORE HERE TODAY

Clean, Cool, Sanitary Tile Is Feature of Establishment

When the newest Bake-Rite bakery opens in Glendale today at 134 South Brand boulevard, the people will be offered a bakery that is different. The same service that made the first Bake-Rite bakery a success, at 518 East Broadway, will be the feature of the new establishment. The store will be lined throughout with white sanitary tile, to be kept scrupulously clean. Cleanliness is the big feature of this institution. There will be a 50-pound wedding cake in the window, and a reproduction of the Rock of Ages in the form of a cake. Delicious French pastry will be on display, and the mysterious method of ornamenting cakes will be disclosed as a feature of the opening, which is to start at 5 o'clock. With every layer cake sold during the opening tomorrow will go a ticket giving the holder a chance on a large fruit cake.

Mr. O'Connor, who opened the first Bake-Rite store in Glendale, will be in charge of the new store, assisted, of course, by the pretty Bake-Rite girl in her neat blue dress and cap.

MY CREED

It's not what you don't believe, my friends,
Or what you dare deny,
That shows your moral fiber
To the crowd that's passing by.
But it's what you do believe, my friend,
And know the reason why,
That makes you a positive force
For good.
In the coming bye and bye.

Your creed may be somewhat at fault, my friend,
Your faith may be rather small,
But it's better to know where you're at, my friend,
Than to have no creed at all.

The ship that's just out sailing, my friend,
And doesn't know where she's bound,
And has no compass or logbook,
Is certain to run aground.

Agnosticism in all the past,
Has never done a whit,
To help this poor old world of ours,
Or lift it a little bit.

It's the man who believes, and speaks, and acts,
While here above the sod,
Who helps this poor old world to day
To see the light of God.

—Uncle Hiram.

GARVANZA FOLKS AT LA CRESCENTA

BROADCASTING IS CHANGED PRESS TO SELECT BROADCAST TIME

Major Dillon, Head of U. S. Broadcasting, Guest at Los Angeles

Major J. F. Dillon, head of Pacific coast radio control, was a guest of the Los Angeles Broadcasters' association last evening at the Jonathan club in the Pacific Electric building, Los Angeles. The meeting was opened with a dinner given in honor of the guest, and immediately after the meal, business matters were opened for discussion. Allocation of time was the outstanding feature, and secondly was the class ratings of the stations. Major Dillon gave a short talk in regard to the new radio regulations and laws as recently developed at the international conference. He also stated that at this conference the great question of "What does the public want?" was discussed. Secretary Hoover was recorded as stating that a broadcasting station perfectly within the law in sending baseball scores on Sunday. He called to the assembly's attention the fact that ever since this world began the people have demanded variety, and that at the present time there would be maybe 4000 people on the air to listen to church music, while there would probably be 10,000 interested in modern music and scores. "Whereas, why shouldn't the people have variety? They are going to have it, was the statement made by Secretary Hoover.

LIMITATIONS OF WAR MOTHERS EXPLAINED

The limitations of the organization of War Mothers, which has fifteen chapters in California, and which has been holding a state convention in Los Angeles this week, were set forth quite clearly by Mrs. M. F. Murray, of Oakland, who has just been re-elected to the presidency, and who was a guest at the reception given to delegates by the Lester Meyer chapter of Glendale, Friday evening at the chamber of commerce.

In conversation before the program opened, Mrs. Murray explained in some measure the divergence between the women's auxiliaries of the American Legion and the war mothers. Their aims are the same, to promote the comfort and welfare of the ex-service man and the members of his family. But war mothers, she explained, organized while the world war was on and have merely continued their work. This convention is their third annual gathering. Membership is limited to actual war mothers, not including wives, sisters, sweethearts, or step-mothers. When the organization is twenty years old it is to be turned over to the daughters or grand-daughters of members.

"Our aim," Mrs. Murray explained, "is to help and comfort the returned soldier from the mother's viewpoint, without any red tape. By our immediate action we have been able to relieve considerable suffering on the part of ex-service men suffering from the effects of their war service, who had waiting months for action at Washington. Our Mrs. Maud Barrett of Los Angeles specializes in the cutting of red tape and getting action in Washington to relieve disabled and unfortunate veterans, many of whom are not mentally responsible as only mothers can understand."

We feel they are not strong enough mentally to resist doing things when they are out of employment. We think those who are responsible for the conditions which have brought them into this state, should be punished, as well as the boy who makes the slip or at least responsibility should be divided."

NEWTON ELECTRIC COMPANY TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Twelfth Year of Business to Be Celebrated by Open House

Elaborate preparations are being made by the J. A. Newton electric company for the celebration of the 12th anniversary of its business in Glendale, which will occur next Tuesday, June 20. The week of June 19 to 24 will be known as anniversary week in Newton company circles, but special emphasis will be placed on the unusual feature to be held Tuesday evening. For this "open house" event on Tuesday night, a wonderful electrical program is being arranged, the principal feature of this being the radio concert, which will be given throughout the entire evening. In addition to this there will be all kinds of musical selections. Instrumental music will be furnished by the evening by a 5-piece orchestra. Mr. Newton promises that this evening will be both profitable and extremely entertaining, and he will try to show all those who attend, a good time. During the evening dainty refreshments will be served, some of which will be electrically cooked, "while you wait."

The management will endeavor to have something special for every day during the week, so that those who visit this establishment from June 19 to 24, will find something that will be of interest to them. For the convenience of those who cannot call during the daytime, the management will keep the store open this week on Tuesday and Saturday evenings.

The J. A. Newton electric company is the oldest electrical concern in Glendale. "Jimmy," the proprietor, was an "old-timer" when Glendale was young—when grapes were growing on the ground that is now the corner of Brand and Broadway, and when the Grand View section was "way out in the country."

TWO GOOD FILMS AT THE GLENDALE

A delightful Goldwyn comedy from the pen of Mary Roberts Rinehart, "The Glorious Fool" will be presented at the Glendale theatre, today only. The story takes place in a hospital, with the heroine a sympathetic probationer and the hero a private patient who insists upon marrying his nurse and leaving all his wealth to her. But he doesn't die. Upon his recovery he assigns himself the arduous task of wooing his wife.

A new Rupert Hughes comedy, produced by Goldwyn, "Come On Over" will be screened at this theatre for three days beginning Sunday. It is a breezy, wholesome, chucklesome story of an Irish lad, Shane O'Mealla, who seeks his fortune in the United States, leaving Monya, his sweetheart, to be "sent for out" when he lands a good job. Shane is unfortunate and loses job after job.

The years go by and Monya is brought over by friends. She thinks Shane is in love with Judy Grady and there is a great to-do until they are swept into each other's arms at a contest of old Irish dances.

Alfred Greene directed the comedy in association with the author, Colleen Moore, who made such a big hit in Rupert Hughes' previous photoplay, "The Wall Flower," is cast as Monya, and Ralph Graves, who leaped into screen prominence with his performance in Griffith's "Dream Street," acts the part of Shane. Others in the cast are J. Farrell MacDonald, Kate Price, Kathleen O'Connor, Florence Drew, Mary Warren, James Marcus, Harold Holland, Monti Collins and C. E. Mason.

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Mrs. J. S. Conlin returned Thursday from a six weeks' stay in Palo, Calif. She was accompanied home by Miss Marjorie Adams, who motored down for the week-end.

Mrs. H. W. Ide, of Leavenworth, Kansas, is the guest of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anderson, of Montrose, for the week-end.

Miss Eunice Bissell, of Long Beach, is the houseguest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bissell, of "Hi-up" ranch.

Only mothers of commonplace children ever expect to grow or children from turnip seed.

REGISTER AND VOTE FOR THE WRIGHT BILL, IS URGED

Judge Thomas of Santa Ana, Urges Support of Governor Stephens

Support of Governor Stephens in his advocacy of the Wright law, urged by Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, met with the approval of the Brotherhood of Churches at the meeting held last night at the Glendale Presbyterian church, because of its clarity of thought and expression.

Opening his address with a statement of the imperative need of registration of all who are aligned with the purposes of the governor, he read a statement by Governor Stephens and proceeded with his advocacy. He said:

California must not fail in its Constitutional obligations by failing to adopt this Act.

As I see it the opposition of the Act is based upon the alleged fact that the Federal Government has only 30 law enforcement officers in this State, and because if this Act is sustained by the people the Federal authorities will be ably assisted by the addition of the entire State forces, consisting of over 200 Courts and more than 20,000 State Officers, including sheriffs, attorneys, etc. All this would be vouchsafed without costing us or any of us one dollar additional expense or tax.

THEY SAY THAT

1. "Prohibition was hastily enacted."—The fact is that for more than one hundred years prohibition was intensively and extensively studied and discussed. No question ever decided by the American people was better understood or more thoroughly considered.

2. "Prohibition was the will and act of the minority."—The fact is that before national prohibition went into effect thirty-four states acting separately had adopted prohibition for themselves. More than three fifths of the people and four fifths of our territory were under prohibition. The amendment was submitted by a vote of more than two thirds of both Houses of Congress and ratified by the Legislature of forty-six of the States, or fifteen sixteenths of the States.

3. "Prohibition was 'put over' while our soldiers were away."—The fact is that the Congress which submitted to the States was elected in November, 1916, five months before we declared a state of war existing between this country and Germany. It was "put over" in exactly the same way that the seventeen amendments which preceded it, as well as the nineteen or the one which succeeded it, and by the very method prescribed by the constitution itself, by a two-thirds majority vote of both Houses of Congress and to ratify this action the affirmative action of only 36 states was necessary. The fact is that 46 of the States so voted—being every state in the Union except Rhode Island and Connecticut. In the House of Representatives the vote was 281 for and 181 against; in the Senate 65 for and 20 against. In the State Legislatures the votes stood as follows: Senate 1299 voted for ratification while 217 voted against it.

With 46 out of 48 States—or at the ratio of 46 to 2—it looks to me as though the people of this country have said in no uncertain tones "down with the liquor traffic and the bootleggers and up with the Stars and Stripes." "Glory to God in the highest, peace on earth and good will to men."

Isn't it awful the way this was "put over." The 46 States which ratified the amendment have a population of more than 105,000,000, while the two states which refused to ratify have less population than the City of Philadelphia alone. The booze gang know that when they say that this amendment was "put over" on the people that they are the biggest bunch of liars that was ever headed for hell. No other amendment was better understood or received anything like the vote cast for this one.

4. "Prohibition is unconstitutional."—The fact is that by an unanimous opinion rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States on June 8, 1920, both the eighth amendment and Volstead Act were and each of them was declared to be constitutional.

5. "More liquor is consumed now than before we had prohibition."—The fact is that in 1917 the last year before war prohibition went into effect, 600 distilleries in the United States produced 168,000,000 gallons of spirituous liquors. In the same year 1300 breweries produced 1,885,000,000 gallons of beer. The first year under constitutional prohibition 3 distilleries were in operation and 28,000,000 gallons of spirits were consumed, while beer practically disappeared. The liquor imported was less than one half of one per cent of the consumption of preprohibition days.

The number of arrests for drunkenness the last year before prohibition in Los Angeles was 15,839; the first year after prohibition 2,587. San Francisco 17,354—1814—Baltimore 5,096—1785—Washington 10,793—5,447. Boston 73,892—1,487. Philadelphia 34,228—13,018. How do you account for the slump?

In 59 cities of the United States whose population exceeded twenty millions the arrests for drunkenness for the year immediately preceding prohibition were 216,842; while the first year after prohibition went into effect these had been reduced to 107,758. I wonder what caused this reduction? Immediately after January 1st last, the booze brood spread broadcast the report that New York on New Year's Eve had the debauch of her life, that all of New York wallowed in booze, that 100,000 were maudlin drunk. According to the census of 1920 New York has a population of 5,521,161. If 100,000 were maudlin drunk that leaves 5,521,161 who were sober. Not so had for little old New York, eh, boy?

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gould Brown arrived in New York from London January 29, 1922, and left (God bless them) on February 5, 1922, because, as they put it, they could not get anything to drink. Brown in an interview is reported to have said "My wife and I have been traveling continually around the world one year and three months. We are glad to leave New York. It is the one bone dry city we have struck in one hundred thousand miles of travel." Isn't that too bad?

The annual booze dinner for the drunks of New York for Thanks giving Day (called for this special purpose "Booze Day") which had been carried on for a generation, had to be abandoned by the Salvation Army because no drunks could be found to feed. The dinner therefore was given to the poor children of the City. (Isn't it just terrible that prohibition would make it possible for hungry children to get that which theretofore went to feed the drunks? Under these conditions it would seem quite clear (?) that the amendment should be repealed.)

In the same "dastardly" way the Neil and Keely Institutes of this Nation have been closed, for want of patrons. Among us let me see the hand of the man who has a son whom he is willing to become a drunkard so that these institutions may have a chance to reform them?

That there is too much booze coming into this country and being made and drunk here in defiance of law, goodness knows, is too true, but that there is more drunk than before our Federal Constitution had inserted in it this benevolent amendment, even the devil knows that that is not so, and he's some liar himself, but I understand that he has given up his place as president of "The Champion Liars Association" to the Blind Pigger and the Liquor Traffic.

6. "Prohibition interferes with personal liberty."—The fact is that every other law does the same. So do the ten commandments, according to the testimony of every liar, thief, libertine, despoiler of homes, blasphemous and blind pigger in the land.

7. "Prohibition cannot be enforced."—The fact is that prohibition, as well as every other law adopted for the good of the people, can be enforced by placing men in authority who have the inclination, courage and ability to do that for which they are paid and sworn to perform.

France, evidently, believes it is being enforced. Recently she had a "Wine Week." One day was devoted to "things American." The burden of the speeches was "Some way must be found to circumvent, pierce or jump over the wall of prohibition surrounding the United States." If prohibition cannot be enforced how do you suppose that France has gotten the erroneous impression that it is being enforced?

The liquor people claim that there are a thousand bootleggers at present in San Francisco. In "the good old days" that City had 3200 saloons and, according to the Chief of Police at the same time had not less than 2000 bootleggers or blind piggers. Something has happened to cut out the 3200 saloons altogether and the number of bootleggers has been reduced to one half according to their own statement.

January 12, 1922, 500 Chicago men sat down to a banquet to damn the country and the Constitution and cry "Down with tyranny." "Up with the booze flag!" "To hell with the preachers and the Churches." But they lifted 500 glasses filled with water to do it. This is not strictly in accordance with law the way they used to do things of that kind in pre-prohibition days. Evidently it prohibits to some extent even in Chicago.

Of course the Volstead Act is being violated but who are the violators? The reprehensible blind piggers on the one hand and the so-called "respectable citizen" on the other. If the latter exercised enough brain to fill the head of a flea he would know that as a good citizen he could no more buy contraband liquor than he could sell it without violating the law itself. Is the fact that the law is violated by some a reason for its repeal?

Last year in Los Angeles alone I am informed that 25,070 automobiles were stolen and more than 39,000 in 28 of our cities. The reasoning of the wets calls for the repeal of the law against grand larceny. Only a fool will advance such an argument as that. Let the man in this audience who believes that that argument is logical, stand up please.

Notwithstanding the cry of the wets, Judge Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—says that the liquor cases that come before the Federal Courts constitute only one and one-half per cent of the total cases filed and that even at the present abnormally congested condition.

So far as I am concerned you can take the lying statements of the liquor traffic if you like. So far as I am concerned I prefer to take the statement of a man who knows what he is talking about—Judge Taft.

Do you realize that right now there are only 1100 Federal enforcement officers in the entire United States. Under these conditions I think our Federal Government is doing heroic work with so small a force. How does it look to you?

8. "Nobody is convicted for violating the law."—The fact is that during the past year (1921) 17,962 persons were convicted after trial, 16,610 pleaded guilty and 765 were acquitted for violation of this law.

I wonder where the wets get their "information."

In 1921 48,300 law breakers who were indicted 43,012 were convicted. In the face of such figures how can any honest person maintain the position as that contained in the lying statement that "No body is convicted for violating the law."

9. "It would take a standing army and bankrupt the Government to enforce prohibition."—The fact is that the entire cost of enforcement for the year 1921 by the Federal Government was only $625,095.43.

The receipts from fines, penalties and properties seized were $65,203,523. Ten dollar profit for every dollar spent may spell bankruptcy for you, but to me that looks like pretty good business. The liquor measure of today is somewhat different from that which I learned in the old School House on the Hill. Today it reads "Two pints one quart; two quarts one pint; one quart, two quarts one pint; one quart, two quarts one pint; one quart, two quarts one pint." Come on, you big lying stiff, answer these statistics if you can.

Northcliffe, Marshall Foch.

10. "Prohibition has caused the alarming and appalling increase of crime and sounds the death knell of the Republic."—The fact is that the total arrests for the 21 most common crimes in Cincinnati were 9,457; the first year after prohibition 4,837. Louisville, 5,177—2855. Detroit 3,191—1,265. The arrests for these same 21 crimes for the cities of Boston, Baltimore, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Peoria and New Orleans were for the last year before prohibition 297,544. The first year of prohibition 171,676. The total commitments to the House of Correction in New York the year before prohibition was 8,128. The first year after prohibition 541. This is a lawless act is charged to prohibition by the liquor traffic.

Every time some Anarchist bootlegger smuggles in some booze and is captured his own ilk raised the cry "See how prohibition is increasing crime."

England, France, Germany, and all the other Nations have no prohibition and the crime wave is with them. How do our friends, the "enemies" do our friends.

Even the drug habit is now charged to prohibition. Notwithstanding its use, the existence of the license system in British Columbia does not seem to help them any for the drug habit there is even worse than here.

11. "Prohibition is 'killing' men by the thousand; robbing them of their property and ruining their business, and has brought on nation wide hard times." that during the last Christmas and New Years holidays 29 died in Chicago, 17 in New York; all the work of prohibition fatalities: 3900 was the death toll of last year. —Isn't that awful? It would be only for the facts. The fact is that before prohibition those who died as the result of the liquor traffic numbered 90,000 annually. On the face of things that is a saving of 87,000. Isn't that a pretty fair start for prohibition? Fifteen thousand killed by autos last year. The year before prohibition, in New York alone 54 died from drinking wood alcohol. In 1921, 16 died from the same cause. What do you suppose has caused the difference? Isn't it strange that these loud-mouthed hirelings of the liquor traffic have such short memories, or are so ignorant of history? Immediately following the Civil War we had hard times and many of the conditions which we are experiencing and from which we are suffering today, but at that time we had an orgy of whisky. Is it not too bad that history will not permit them to charge that condition to prohibition?

The fact is that hard times follows in the wake of every war. And this last war was the most appalling in history. Notwithstanding this fact, however, the United States, as compared with any other nation on earth, and almost all the others are liquor-soaked, has had 100 per cent prosperity.

It is a fact that prohibition has closed 1300 breweries, 600 distilleries and 177,000 saloons. One thousand and ninety-eight former breweries, however, are now manufacturing soft drinks; 181 are making syrup for soft drinks; 145 are manufacturing ice, and 50 are cold storage warehouses. Most of the breweries in the South have been turned into cotton mills—and this is true of our own great Los Angeles brewery.

The 600 former distilleries, 13 of them in Peoria, are now all manufacturing useful products, and using four times as many men as before.

Saloons everywhere have been turned into candy stores, ice cream shops, soda fountains, shoe stores, etc.

The owners of the Blackstone hotel and the Drake in Chicago, the latter reported to be the finest hotel in this country outside of the City of New York, say that the receipts from the Blackstone, the first year of prohibition were several hundred thousand dollars in excess of the previous year.

The president of the National Hotel association says:

"Fifteen years hence we shall look back to 1920—the first year of national prohibition—as the banner year of our business, for every hotel man has found prohibition a blessing in disguise."

The following question was sent out to the governor of each state in the Union:

"Do you consider prohibition a permanent American policy?" and 47 answered "Yes" without any qualification. The one negative answer came from Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, who saw his own legislature ratify the Eighteenth amendment and pass an enforcement act for that state by the unanimous vote of both houses in spite of his opposition. Of all the governors of the Union this man, Edwards, takes the booby prize.

12. "Prohibition has turned 85 per cent of the homes into distilleries and 85 per cent of honest men into hypocrites and lawbreakers."—The fact is as we get it from Mr. Haynes, who is under oath to support the Constitution of the United States and to enforce this law, that there is not such an outfit in more than one home in a thousand. Why these fellows would even charge the Arbuckle case up to prohibition. Wouldn't that kill you? Of course in the old days Arbuckle would have celebrated at the St. Francis hotel with "pink tea and red lemonade." Of course there were no blind piggers or illicit liquor selling in the old days of San Francisco. But how about the statement of chief of police of that city? Bear in mind that every state in the Union except Maryland and California, whose legislatures ratified the Eighteenth amendment, have adopted enforcement laws. This includes Connecticut and Rhode Island, whose legislatures have not ratified the amendment. The issue is not whether we shall or shall not have prohibition, but rather whether we support the Constitution of the United States and the laws and these under. In other words, whether we shall be loyal to government of the United States.

Truths in Epigram

Knowledge, in truth, is the great sun in the firmament. Life and power are scattered with all its beams.—Webster (1782-1850).

With reasonable men, I will reason; with humane men I will plead; but to tyrants I will give no quarter, nor waste arguments where they will certainly be lost.—Garrison (1805-1879).

EXCLUSIVE HUNTING

The head of an English salvage company issues warning for Americans to keep away from the wreck of the Lusitania. He says that if the Americans butt in they will be chased off by a British cruiser. This would not afford the world a pleasing spectacle. Possibly, however, the gentleman over-estimates his influence touching the conduct of British cruisers.

Very likely landladders in general have very vague ideas as to maritime law. They have observed with surprise, that a derelict at sea, even but lately abandoned, becomes the property of the skipper who has the good luck to find it and tow it to port. If a ship in distress signals for aid, the rescuer may demand such payment as strikes the landlubber in question as bordering on robbery. However, if this sort of law is good in the case of a lumber schooner, there comes to mind no reason why it is not equally good in the case of an Atlantic liner.

The chances are that Americans interested in the scheme of salvage will pay not the slightest attention to the warning. If they arrived on the scene first, any controversy that might arise would be likely to be between two gangs of exploiters, neither of them backed by the guns of any navy. But the likelihood that anything can be retrieved from the wreck is remote, and there is no immediate occasion for fussing about it. The sea outside the three-mile limit is free and not the exclusive hunting ground of any adventurous expedition.

THE ROSS FIELD SCHOOL

It is said to be the intention of the government to abandon the balloon school at Ross Field, Arcadia. This has been a very useful institution. So far as the public is able to perceive, there is no reason why its usefulness should not continue.

The valuable tract of land on which the school is located was dedicated to war purposes for a long time through the generosity of Mrs. Anita Baldwin. This was only one of many ways in which she displayed patriotic activity. Later it was purchased by a group of enterprising citizens, and donated to the government. Mrs. Baldwin aided by a liberal concession in price.

These citizens gave the tract to the government on the specific condition that it was to be employed as the site for continuing the school. If congress elects to abandon the school, it appears to be electing also to return the land to the donors. Herein is involved a simple matter of good faith. In all probability the individuals concerned could recover the land by legal process if the government violates the terms of its ownership, as now seems likely. A fine sense of honor on the part of the government would make legal proceedings unnecessary. Quite unsolicited, it would hand back the deed of title, with a courteous expression of thanks.

But why should balloon training not continue here? Climatic conditions, so favorable to it could not be found elsewhere, and in the middle west, which seems to have been chosen for such training, are so distinctly unfavorable that the proposed shift is hard to explain.

CRIMINAL LAWYER ETHICS

One Fenton, charged with illegal passing of checks, failed to appear for trial. His lawyer, however, was present, and explained the absence of the client. The office of the lawyer had been burglarized, and it was his opinion that the act had been performed by the accused. Perhaps the incident will give the lawyer an opportunity of considering the ethics governing criminal lawyers generally.

Whether the defendant had been guilty as to the checks would not have made any difference to the criminal lawyer. He would have defended him as warmly, declared his innocence with as fine an apparent sincerity, as though aware that his client had been wrongfully accused. This is a way that criminal lawyers have, and it has sometimes called the nobility of their motives into question. As they associate with criminals, the latter are received in the office of counsel for defense. This one seemed to have perceived the possibility of getting away with sundry chattels belonging to the lawyer, and to have done so "contrary to the peace and dignity," etc., etc.

A nice question arises as to the duty of the lawyer should his client-burglar be apprehended. The lawyer might still feel, under the obligation of a retaining fee, that it was his duty to defend the client as to the checks. But would he also defend him as to the burglary, taking pay in a portion of the booty? Perhaps the lawyer would in the circumstances, lose his habitual calm, declining to condone or to conceal crime. For the old saying that it makes a difference whose ox is gored, still is true.

THE BEAUTIFUL FLAG

In the long ago when China first became nationally aware of the United States, this country was termed by the Chinese the "Land of the Beautiful Flag." The title seemed appropriate then. It is equally fitting now. The flag is beautiful. Its combination and arrangement of color is most pleasing. It is radiant without being gaudy. The red, the white and the blue each tell a separate story. In the number of stars there is written the tale of growth. In the number of stripes is set forth the beginning of American liberty.

But it is not the visual aspect of the emblem that appeals most strongly. The principle represented by the flag is that which makes it precious. The fact that no dishonor has stained it, that it never has led an army in unrighteous cause, that it has waved over brave men ready to die to uphold it, that it is unfurled in token of freedom, makes the heart to thrill in its presence, and the head to be bared as it passes by.

There are traditions concerning the origin of the flag, but perhaps none that is universally accepted. The legend of Betsy Ross has become a part of history, and yet it may be to some extent mythical. Searchers of the records in Philadelphia have declared it to be without foundation. Be all this as it may, the flag as it is today is revered by a devoted people, and throughout the world commands respect.

MAKING RAIN

Sir Oliver Lodge declares his belief that in the future the race will be able to provide rain as may be needed. He says that in periods of drought the air needs electrifying, and that he has no doubt a method for doing this will be discovered.

Sir Oliver continues in his old age to be one of the great authorities in matters of physical science. His intelligence never has been subject to impeachment save as it has wandered to the realm of metaphysics, and there groped blindly. His knowledge of the elements doubtless remains as profound as ever, his mind as richly stored with information touching actualities. That he admits the possibility of artificial production of rain, will at least lead to experiment in the direction indicated.

Men have done wonders with electricity. Their ultimate achievements in the use of this mysterious agent it would be unwise even to conjecture. They may attain to potency of which not the most sanguine among them has dreamed. They have found that measureless forces are locked in the streams, and they have found how to loose these forces, guiding the tremendous energy according to human need and human will. If electricity is capable of stimulating rainfall, there is no folly in assuming that an adequate supply will be forthcoming, and that some system of applying it to the arid heavens will follow.

HIS ONE HUNDREDTH YEAR

Cornelius Cole, once senator from this state, is now in the east to receive an honorary degree from Wesleyan college. The character of the degree is not stated. Mr. Cole has fairly earned the right to two degrees. He is a master of the art of living—there is his M. A. He has a fine philosophy, which he has applied to his conduct, and which colors his outlook—there is his Ph. D. Both await to be handed over by the proper scholastic authority.

This venerable citizen has been preserved in mind and body. He looks no older than men of 75 often look. He stands erect, he steps with decision, his eye is bright, his sense of humor keen. He is a pleasing talker devoid of tendency to talk about himself, although naturally he has to submit to many personal questions. He has had a busy, happy and useful career; nearing the century line, he still is having it.

An admirable quality in the hale old man is that he does not advocate any special method of living. He does not ascribe his years and his vigor to abstention from creature comforts. He did not set out with ambition to attain great age. He does not pay high tribute to himself for having attained it. He makes no effort to lay down rules for the other person. Therefore is he an M. A. and a Ph. D. whether or not a discerning college goes through the formality of so declaring.

Conan Doyle has gone back to England. As he probably took his trained troupe of performing spirits back with him, the commotion may be supposed to be over and the incident closed.

THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I don't want now to speak of the Russian government, of bolshevism or sovietism or whiskers. I wish to speak of the people. Bolshevism is as much a removable excrescence as whiskers and as dispensable as a soiled suit of clothes. I speak of human beings.

I have recently seen them, seen right into the heart of them, and I wish to testify that I am thoroughly in love with them.

I went to see the performance which is called Chauve-Souris, meaning Bat, a fanciful name borrowed from the Moscow theater and having nothing to do with the performance. There is about as much sense in calling this show Chauve-Souris as in calling you George W. Peckinpaw, in which there is no sense at all.

It is the most artistic and soul-refreshing theatrical performance, however, that I have seen in many a year.

It is pure play. Americans cannot play like that, with such perfect abandon, with such uncensored self-expression, and yet with such consummate art. It is the most child-like thing imaginable, and whatever is child-like and well enough done to captivate us, is worth while.

The show was in Russian and I did not understand a word, which was a great relief, for if I had been in English I should have tried to understand and should have been irritated.

But the language was the universal language of mankind, the play of child-like people.

There was dancing. I had about made up my mind that I do not like dancing and thought it was because I was getting old and cranky, but I discovered that that is not the reason. I do not like society dancing, I see now, because it is artificial posing. It pretends to be play and is not. But the dancing at this performance was the kind of dancing children do. The actors threw themselves into their work soul foremost and it gave you the same sensation of gladness you get when you see children running about laughing and leaping, or when you see little lambs jumping up with all four feet at once.

Of course all this might have been silly and amateurish. All good art narrowly escapes the danger line of the ridiculous. But these Russian artists are masters of their craft. They dare play, they dare be simple, and they get away with it. It seemed to me as I sat there that all the curtain and clouds of distance and lies had been swept away and that I was gazing at the uncovered heart of the Russian people, that great, deep, strange people, as Anzia Zeierska says, who are at once the menace and the hope of the world.

THE LISTENING POST

There is the story of the boy who was going home on a dark night.

And dark nights are unpleasant things to go home in.

Darkness is not an especially friendly condition.

Because so many things may fret and frighten us in the dark.

The noxious and evil things of the world seem to thrive in darkness.

The sunlight dissipates evil.

As it does fog and mist and sometimes disease.

Light is the great destroyer of evil.

The evil designs of the housebreaker and footpad are thwarted by the sunlight.

The sunlight of truth dissipates the mists and fogs of deception and falsehood.

So sunlight is a friendly thing.

And darkness seems often unfriendly.

Because evil things are done under cover of it.

The sunless cave is damp and dismal and cheerless.

Abounding in slugs and fungi and other cold and clammy things.

And we leave it with gladness to get into the light again.

The boy who was going home grew frightened.

He imagined all of the dreadful things that boys sometimes imagine in darkness and gloom.

And he started to run.

And as he ran he heard foot steps.

Pattering after him on the road.

They seemed to be very near.

Right behind him.

And he could not get away from them.

The faster he ran the faster they came after him.

Always near.

Right at his back, you might say.

Then he summoned up all of his boyish courage.

Stopped.

Looked about.

And the noise of the pattering footsteps died away.

Not a sound.

But when his fears grew and he began to run they came after him again.

Just as before.

Always keeping right behind him.

Until he got home.

And told his mother.

And when he had gone to bed his mother found in his pocket two wooden blocks.

Playthings.

And she clapped them together.

And made the same noises he had heard on the road.

And the next morning she showed him the blocks.

And put them in his pocket.

And set him to run.

And the footsteps came after him again.

And she told him it was usually so.

That when you stopped and faced pursuers they stopped.

And quit pursuing you.

But when you ran on in fear they usually followed you.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Noble Balm.—By Ben Johnson (1573-1637)

High-spirited friend,

I send you balms nor co'sives to your wound:

Your fate hath found

A gentler and more agile hand to tend

The cure of that which is but corporal;

And doubtful days, which were named critical,

Have made their fairest flight

And now are out of sight.

Yet doth some wholesome physic for the mind

Wrapp'd in this paper lie.

Which in the taking if you misapply,

You are unkind.

Your covetous hand,

Happy in that fair honour hath gain'd,

Must now be rein'd.

True valour doth her own renown command

In one full action; nor have you now more

To do, than be a husband of that store.

Think but how dear you bought

This fame which you have caught:

Such thoughts will make you more in love with truth.

'Tis wisdom, and that high,

For men to use their fortune reverently,

Even in youth.

Mars, Planet of Mystery, Now Closest to Earth

By ISABEL M. LEWIS, U. S. Naval Observatory

Mars, the planet of mystery, with its polar caps of white, and its dusky, grey-green markings against a red and ochre background crossed, so many astronomers say, by elusive canals, may now be seen in all its brilliancy in the southeastern part of the heavens in the evening shortly after the resplendent Venus has disappeared beneath the western horizon.

Tomorrow, June 18, Mars will make its nearest approach to the earth at a distance of 42,360,000 miles. This is the nearest that Mars has been to us since the close opposition of 1909 when it came within a distance of 36,500,000 miles. The closest possible approach of Mars to the earth is, in round numbers, 25,000,000 miles. On August 23, 1924, this limit will be attained, for Mars will approach to within 34,600,000 miles of the earth.

The Martian canals were discovered only forty-five years ago by the Italian astronomer, Schiaparelli. With a modest 8 1/2 inch telescope, he observed the planet through the clear Italian skies at the time of the close opposition of 1877, when Mars was 35,000,000 miles from the earth.

The reddish-ochre regions he found were covered with a network of straight dark lines intersecting in dark spots and ending in the dusky regions and these newly-discovered markings he called "canals." Unfortunately this was translated in English as "canals," whatever these markings are.

They certainly are not canals in the sense in which we use the term. Their length must be about twenty miles. The explanation generally accepted by those who believe in the existence of the canals is that they are strips of vegetation bordering on waterways but they disagree as to whether the waterways are artificial.

Today the discussion raised by Schiaparelli's discovery is still unsettled though the canals have been photographed at the Lowell observatory and elsewhere and have been systematically observed by many observers in the United States and Europe. The number of those who believe in the canals has considerably increased, and some astronomers who at one time doubted their existence now express a belief in their reality but interpret them as irregularities or streaks in the barren surface of the planet.

There are, however, a few significant facts about the planet Mars on which practically all astronomers are in agreement.

The existence of the polar caps and their dependence upon the seasonal changes is not disputed though certain astronomers still hold to the opinion that they consist of carbonic acid gas or hoar frost rather than ice. All believe that the polar caps are shallow and that there are no extensive oceans or seas on Mars. That seasonal changes take place in the color and general appearance of the dark markings on Mars, is not

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Charges have been made openly in the senate that one of the graduates of Annapolis this year has been the victim of gross affront by his class mates. The student in question throughout his four-year course has been near the head in scholarship. He is not stated to have been guilty of offense. He is a Jew. If he has been persecuted on this ground, his persecutors are not gentlemen, are not good citizens, and should be expelled from the navy.

Admission to the navy academy is not a matter of favoritism. Each one who enters has earned the place over competitors. If a Jew wins the distinction, he has equal right there with young men of any race. The attitude of mind that would deny him decent treatment from his associates is something of which they should be ashamed, and for which they should be penalized.

The people of this country take great pride in the navy personnel because it is supposed to be of picked men. The students come from every walk of life. They have four years of intensive training that requires a better than average mind, and a stronger than average physique. The natural result is that such as endure to the end constitute a fine and capable body of men.

To find that any group of graduates had been guilty of the contemptible and cowardly offense of baiting one of their number, of a different origin, would be a disappointment to the public, and it would demand elimination of the group, both as a matter of justice and of maintaining the morale of the great school.

Suzanne Lenglen, French woman tennis champion, is said to have become ill as the time for her to meet Mrs. Mallory of America neared. Her friends assert that she has heart trouble. This, of course, may be the precise truth.

The heart, however, regulates the circulation, and poor circulation causes cold feet.

Germany is said to be about to issue more paper money. There must be an abundance of paper over there.

In the United States not so very long ago there was a paper shortage so great that the practise of printing anything not valuable was discontinued. And when printing was going on full blast, there was none of it quite so low in value as German paper money.

Recently a Los Angeles woman took a revolver and killed a woman neighbor. The first woman is now in jail howling hysterically.

There seems to have been no reason for the tragedy. The slayer says that her victim had hypnotized her, and thrown a black powder about, the stuff having occult and dreadful potency.

Crazy of course; never a March hare half so crazy. But such manias do not develop on the instant. Probably many were aware that the lunatic was dangerous, and that she should have been restrained long ago.

A. J. Frey, prominent and useful citizen, died recently in the prime of life. He was the victim of a disease that has been known since early days in California, yet never even adequately named. The total cases have been only about sixty, almost uniformly fatal.

An Illinois widow, possessing a fortune of some $100,000, went touring the south. The next known of her was that her body was ready for shipment home, and that the fortune had vanished.

Naturally there is some inquiry as to who vanished with the fortune.

American workmen are being solicited to join their unions to those of Europe, thus forming an international body. It is not surprising that they are too wise to comply.

Such an alliance would be of the entangling sort sure enough.

President Harding asks quick action on the ship subsidy. If his request fails of effect, he will call a special session for consideration of this subject.

The President is not in the habit of asking congress to do the unreasonable. Members may as well give up their plans of side-stepping the issue.

A woman in this vicinity recently gave birth to quadruplets. None of the four survived more than a few hours, although all were said to have been perfectly formed.

Quadruplets are rare, and survival of a full set probably unknown. Triplets seem to constitute the human limitation, and even triplets, under almost any domestic conditions, would be a visitation not more than two-thirds welcome.

The mothers of the country are being appealed to support laws forbidding child labor. In all the land there ought not to be a mother failing to respond with her influence and vote.

There are benighted sections of the country in which child labor is a cherished institution. If united mother love could not drive out the darkness there, the case would indeed be hopeless.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The Old Boy's young son came into the house last night a little red and fluttered, but unquestionably triumphant. He is just starting out for himself, in a small way. That is, he has the agency for a standard article, and he is trying to work up a business. He has the energy that every youngster ought to have, and the nerve of a garage manager and a good address, and so, little by little, he is gathering in some good accounts.

"But I'm off the Philosopher Pink Ink people," he said. "I had a row with their buyer today, and believe me, I told him where to get off."

That explained the redness and the frustration. He had sold a bill to the Philosopher people, and the buyer—who had not given the order personally—repudiated it.

"But your foreman gave me the order," said the Old Boy's son.

"He says he didn't," said the buyer.

Whereupon the youngster blew up. The dignity of early twenty had been mussed, and there seems no doubt that he called the buyer very copiously out of his name. He wound up by telling the buyer that "I am a better man than you—morally, mentally or physically," and inviting him to put the assertion to the proof. When he left the office, being urged to leave by the buyer, he saw another salesman just climbing into his automobile.

"You've spoiled that bird for all of us for about a month," said the other salesman.

The kid had figured out that he had won a triumph. But by the time he listened to the Old Boy he discovered that what he had done was to lose an account and seriously impede his progress. The Old Boy indicated that the buyer was well within his rights. There may actually have been a misunderstanding of the original order. In no case was the kid justified in acting like a boor and a boob.

"As a young man in business you are doing something more than selling goods," said the Old Boy. "You are laying the foundations of your future. If people discover that they cannot have a difference of opinion with you except you begin to kick the chairs and holler, they will refuse to have any dealings with you at all."

The kid isn't convinced. He still thinks that he won a triumph, even if he did lose an account.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

AMERICA'S GREATEST MAN

[Chicago News]

Lord Northcliffe's pronouncement that Theodore Roosevelt was the greatest man he had ever known was followed by former Vice President Marshall's article in the Daily News naming Lincoln as the greatest. The supporters of Washington, Napoleon and the other usual competitors for the title of "world's greatest" were not heard from.

The Northcliffe pronouncement in favor of Roosevelt was given in a reminiscent discussion of the great men he had met. Of course, he never met Lincoln. The Marshall judgment, more deliberate and given after the consideration of a wider field, was apropos of the dedication of the Lincoln memorial in Washington. "Time, the great healer," says Mr. Marshall, "has once at least silenced every note of discord, healed every wound and made of one man a universal candidate for greatness with qualities that appeal to all the higher and finer sensibilities of man."

With that judgment few Americans will quarrel and most will agree. To the great majority Lincoln is not only the greatest, but the ideal American.

MARS APPROACHES EARTH, ROUSING SCIENTISTS

All Human Instruments of Detection Turned on Planet Tomorrow

EARTH AND MARS

Editor's Note: On tomorrow, June 18, at 5 p. m., Mars will be only 42,350,000 miles away from the earth. That is the nearest point the red planet has been to the earth since 1909.

There has been for years intense interest in the civilized world in Mars and millions of words of speculation, theory and fiction have been printed about the canals, the civilization, the warrior, the climate, the planet.

On the occasion of the near-visit, The United Press asked Edwin E. Slosson, of the science service, Washington, one of the best informed and most informative writers on scientific subjects in the United States, to tell its readers what is known and speculated about the planet.

By EDWIN E. SLOSSON, Science Service, Washington, D. C. (Written for the United Press)

Mars is now nearing the earth and telescopes big and little are being turned toward it.

This is a time when owner of a small telescope need not envy the owner of a larger one for when it comes to seeing things at night on Mars, the amateur with an active imagination can beat the big observatories. He can interpret the red color and the bluish, greenish and greyish patches as he pleases and endow the planet with such corresponding forms of life as he can conjure up.

The astronomical authorities may never believe him, but they cannot yet disprove him. Mars is one of the few fields left for the sport speculation.

Mars may now be seen any clear evening above the southeastern horizon after the brighter Venus has set in the west.

Mars comes nearer to the earth this month than it has been since 1909 or than it will be until 1924. On May 15, Mars was 51,500,000 miles away from us. At 5 p. m. on June 18 it will be 42,350,000 miles away. Then the two planets will draw apart until by September 1, Mars will be 67,000,000 miles distant.

The planets go around the sun in the same direction at varying rates of speed like racing horses. Mars being on an outside ring, requires nearly twice as long as the earth to complete its year. They come closest of course whenever they happen to pass on the same side of the sun, but since they do not move in perfect circles, they are nearer at certain times than others. In 1924 the earth and Mars will come about as close together as they ever can, that is, less than 35,000,000 miles.

FAT MAN ON MARS

A man who weighed 200 on the earth, would weigh only 80 pounds if transported to Mars, as gravity there is only 4.10th as strong as on the earth. The fat man, with his loss of weight on Mars, would be correspondingly more active and frisky.

In former times the approach of the fiery red martial planet would have aroused public alarm as presaging wars and revolutions, but nowadays the signs of such calamities are so conspicuous on earth that we have no need to seek them in the heavens.

But it is curious to notice that the public takes more interest than the astronomers in the nearing of Mars. This is because of the popular expectation of some evidence of animal life, perhaps even of civilization.

Man has already had a horror of being left alone in the universe and has eagerly grasped the slightest signs of the habitability of other worlds than ours. Forty-five years ago an Italian astronomer, Schiaparelli, announced the discovery of dark streaks on the disk of Mars, which he called "canals" and surmised to be belts of irrigated crops.

He spent the next ten years trying to convince his incredulous colleagues of the reality of his observations and the truth of his theory, though with little success.

But he secured a valiant champion in the late Percival Lowell, who set up an observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., for the express study of Mars. He was, like his sister, Miss Amy Lowell, a brilliant writer and in the course of the next ten years had impressed the public with the belief that Mars was inhabited by highly civilized beings, who utilized the polar snows by a complicated system of irrigation beyond the power of earthly engineers to construct.

UNLIKE EARTH PEOPLE
"Wells was undoubtedly right in supposing in his 'War of Worlds,'" says Slosson, "that the Martians, if there are any, would be at least as unlike us as are the devil fish. He was also safe in assuming that if the Martians and we got together there would be a fight."

There is now an international organization for the study of Mars. "The Associated Observers of Mars," who are enthusiastic in their cause as "The Friends of the Medallion" or "The Friends of Russian Freedom." Professor W. H. Pickering of Mandville, Jamaica, the director of the association calls upon amateur as well as professional astronomers to make drawings of the markings on Mars during the month of June in order to settle the question of its climate and civilization.

For the elaborate scheme of double and single canals, of oases at their junction, of arctic ice caps, snowstorms and green fields, which has developed under the leadership of Schiaparelli, Lowell and Pickering, is questioned by many astronomers, including some of the best.

The 40-inch lens of the Yerkes telescope and the 60-inch mirror of the Mount Wilson telescope fail to reveal any such details as are drawn by the devoted disciples of Mars. The best photographs show nothing more than a few vague dark spots and streaks. Probably most astronomers would not go so far as Director W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory, who says "almost certainly there is vegetable life" in Mars, although it is "not actually proved" and that some form of animal life is probable.

The atmosphere is very thin. Mars probably has less than a quarter as much air per acre as the earth and even this may not contain the oxygen necessary for life. Water is scarce. No clouds are observed.

The water vapor in the atmos-

EPISCOPAL GUILD HOLDS MEETING

The Women's Guild of the Episcopal church met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Hal Baly, 151 Eddy avenue. Chairmen for the different departments of work in preparing for the bazaar to be held next December were appointed by the president, Mrs. W. C. Genn, as follows: General chairman, Mrs. Fred S. Thomson; cook book, Mrs. Harry S. Bourne; fancy work, Mrs. H. Keesey; bags, Mrs. Waterman; handkerchiefs, Mrs. J. B. Squires; baskets, Mrs. Mattie L. Maddox; aprons, Mrs. Parker; candy, Misses Schwanbeck and Remsen.

The guild will meet next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Renison, 132 North Highland avenue.

phers of Mars, if there is any, is less than one-fifth the amount which exists in earth's air on a cold, clear winter night on a mountain top. The glittering white caps which form at the poles of the planet at certain seasons and disappear at others may be composed of crystals of frozen carbon dioxide, instead of ice or hoar frost. But if it is carbon dioxide, the polar regions at least must be uninhabitable for it melts at 109 degrees below zero.

Since Mars is farther away from the sun than the earth it receives less than half as much solar heat and since it has less atmosphere, it holds less of the heat it gets. Its mean annual temperature is thought to be between 40 and 60 degrees below zero, though in certain parts and certain seasons the surface may get very hot.

Living on Mars would be something like living on a high mountain above the clouds where the air is dry, rarefied and intensely cold. But there would be compensation for a fat man, for he would lose weight without fasting and feel frisky. Transported to Mars a 200-pound man would weigh only 80 pounds since gravity on Mars is only four-tenths as strong as on the earth.

Wells was doubtless right in supposing, in "War of Worlds," that the Martians, if there were any, would be at least as unlike us as are the devil fish. And he was also safe in assuming that if the Martians and we got together there would be a fight.

But man is so constituted that he would rather wage perpetual warfare with the hosts of other planets than to know that he was living alone in an illimitable universe.

TEACHERS NAMED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Several Added for Fall Term Because of Increased Registration

At a meeting of the board of school trustees last week, the appointment of teachers for the next school year was made, nine being added to last year's list. It may be necessary to add two or three more next fall, as a considerable increase in the registration of pupils is expected. Following are the names of those selected: Miss Esther M. Anderson, Miss Edith M. Beal, Mrs. Alice B. Bice, Miss Lela G. Bolinger, Miss Winnifred Booker, Miss Stella Boly, Miss Lucille M. Cartwright, Miss Cananda Christenson, Miss Collins, Miss Deman, Emma Ruth, Miss French, Margaret B. Harding, Prof. E. B. Harwood, Mrs. Eunice B. Hayhurst, Mrs. Mae D. M. Hensler, Mrs. Florence L. Irving, Miss Dorothy E. Johns, Mrs. Bessie L. Koen, Miss Helen M. Londergan, Mrs. Mattie L. Maddox, Miss Mary O. Oetgerd, Mrs. Josephine M. Reed, Miss Mabel G. Stewart.

BOSTON MUSICIANS AT EAGLE ROCK

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley of Concert Troupe, Are Building Home

A valuable addition has been made to the already large number of talented musicians resident in Eagle Rock, through the selection of this city as "the prettiest spot in the country" by Mr. and Mrs. Shirley of the Shirley Concert Troupe, well known in Boston, New York and many other cities of the east, where they have given entertainments. Mr. Shirley is a composer, a saxophone soloist, and an experienced conductor of orchestras and bands, accustomed to arrange music for all kinds of instrumentalists. His wife is a pianist and violinist. They are having a home built at the corner of Eagle Rock road and Colorado boulevard and conduct a music studio there.

It was in the country and Richard, who lived about a mile away, had called on his girl. As he was saying good night, it began to rain, and Dolly persuaded him to wait until it was over. He waited for more than an hour, and the storm was getting worse. At the end of another hour it had acquired the proportions of a hurricane. At this juncture Dolly's mother suggested that Richard should spend the night under her roof, and the young man accepted readily. Excusing herself, Dolly went to the spare bedroom in order to put the bed to rest. When at last everything was ready, she came downstairs. Richard was there all right, but he was out of

PROJECTED ZONING ON COLORADO IS OPPOSED

Plan of Realty Board to Impose Restrictions Meets With Protest

Evidently the recently elected board of city trustees believes that a "new broom" should "sweep clean," and are kept on the bustle to dispose of the increasing number of public matters that call for their attention. They are holding sessions almost every Monday night, the regular schedule requiring only two a month. Last Monday evening, as for several weeks past, the city hall was invaded by quite a delegation of citizens, most of whom had come to express their views on a new zoning ordinance. There were two factions, each of whom exhibited strong feeling in the matter, the argument lasting over an hour.

At present a business district outlined by an ordinance adopted by the preceding board of trustees is in force. Between its eastern and western limits on Colorado boulevard there is no, excepted territory. Recently the newly organized realty board took the subject under consideration and decided upon a plan for the business district which in their opinion is an improvement on the present one, and Monday evening Harry S. Bourne, chairman of a committee, appointed by the board, presented a map of the proposed change. It takes out of the zone and makes into residential property the frontage on Colorado boulevard east of Rosemont and Florissant avenues, to the east city limits; that between Royal drive and Paloma avenue to the north, and Pearl street on the south; and west from Ellenwood drive and Valley road to what is called Sunshine corner at the Street grocery store.

The reasons given for this change are that all the boulevard frontage will not be needed for business in many years, and if held at business frontage prices, or if store buildings and other business structures could be erected on it, persons desirous of erecting homes or apartment houses would not buy or improve the properties. The realty board favored business along the entire frontage of South Central avenue.

Another side to the issue was vigorously argued by persons who have purchased frontage in the sections named to be taken out of the zone, paying the price for business property. The change would cause them to lose money. Also, as a pioneer woman property owner, whose ranch is now divided into lots, has expressed her point of view. "Why should I be obliged to sell my lots as residential property, at a lower figure than that for which lots on each side of me will be sold as business property, mine being equally as good?" The proposition has been taken under advisement by the city trustees.

Although a committee recently appointed by the chamber of commerce is gathering all the information possible with regard to fire protection in Eagle Rock, the best type of engine for this place, the water supply, hydrant, etc., with the thought of calling a bond election, the city trustees decided Monday evening to purchase a combination chemical, fire and hose truck without delay, realizing the existing danger from fire. It will cost $500, payments to be made monthly. The contract provides for exchanging the engine at some future time for a larger one, and in case a bond issue is decided upon after the committee reports, the exchange can be made, meanwhile there will be better protection than the small chemical engine now gives.

The design of an attractive safety zone station around the flag pole at the junction of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue was presented by City Clerk Martsoff, and favored by the board. It will be submitted to the Los Angeles railway officials for their approval, as part of it would be constructed on the railway's right of way. A safety station is much needed at this point.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT EAGLE ROCK

A summer school will be held in the Central school building, with Miss Cananda Christenson teaching the upper grade work and Mrs. Mattie L. Maddox the lower grades. It will begin on Monday, June 26.

"I ran home to get my night-shirt," replied Richard, blushing.

FLAG DAY AT THE CENTRAL SCHOOL

Flag day was observed at the Central school with a program in the auditorium. E. E. Harwood, the superintendent, addressed the pupils on the colors, urging respect, love, and if necessary, defense for them. The program, which was given by the graduating class last evening was rehearsed before the children at this meeting, many being too small to attend the evening exercises.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT EAGLE ROCK

Many Minds in Many Pulpits to Preach the Gospel

"The Call of the Good," will be Rev. E. Morgan Isaac's sermon subject in the Congregational church, Sunday morning. He deplores the misdirected energy of many good people who think it their duty to combat the evil in the world. Their efforts should be, he thinks, to bring out the inherent good in man, as Jesus did, through recognition of it and appeal to it. At the 8 p. m. meeting there will be special music by the choir and a one-reel picture, "The Wind Goddess," will be shown, after which the pastor will answer a list of twelve questions. Among them are: When Jesus told the people to love their enemies, do you think he really meant it was possible for a person to do so? Is it possible for a sane person to commit suicide? What is the subconscious mind? What takes place the first five minutes after death? To what extent should a parent compel a child to obey? Sunday school is at 9:45 a. m.; young people's meeting at 6:30.

Rev. B. B. Weatherall's subject, in the Presbyterian church, will be "When the Son of Man Cometh, Will He Find Faith on the Earth?" A convenient arrangement at this church is the care of little children in a nursery during the morning service. There is also an acousticon, a gift to the church, which assists deaf people to hear. The evening meeting begins at 7:30. It will be a musical service, and the program, "Face to Face With the Year," written by Mrs. Howard L. Watts of Los Angeles and presented in Immanuel Presbyterian church, will be given. Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Carlisle will superintend its production here.

Dr. John Hedley, pastor of the Methodist church has gone away for two weeks, having an important engagement, and tomorrow Dr. C. V. Gilliland, who is at the head of the department of history in the University of Southern California, will occupy the pulpit, both morning and evening. The latter meeting is at 7:30. Sunday school at 9:45 and Epworth League meeting at 7 p. m. instead of 6:30.

Regular services in the Episcopal church at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Catholic masses during June, July and August are at 7 and 8 a. m. Christian Science meeting, in the Women's clubhouse, at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 9:45.

TRANSPORTATION IS BEING CONSIDERED

As passengers are still at times compelled to get out of the cars at the city's southern boundary and wait for another car to come along before they can get home, the matter will again be taken up by the city trustees with the railway management, through a committee, which was appointed at the last meeting.

A son was born on June 3 to Mr. and Mrs. William Edmondson, who live on East Ridgeway avenue.

COOK PLACE AT EAGLE ROCK IS BOUGHT

Dr. M. M. Null of Seattle, Decides to Settle in Bird Rock City

Change seems to be the order of the day in Eagle Rock. For twelve years the tall, roomy white house of East Hill avenue, known as "the Cook place," has been one of the landmarks of the community. Embowered in trees and shrubbery, comprising ten acres of hillside property, all highly improved, it is one of the beauty spots of the foothills and the several pretty cottages on the grounds were eagerly sought by the best class of tenants. Now this highly attractive old home has been sold by Mr. W. J. Cook, the present city treasurer, to Dr. M. M. Null, from Seattle, Wash., where he had a large practice. Preferring the climate of Southern California, he came to Los Angeles some time ago and looked around for the most desirable place in which to live. After he saw Mr. Cook's home, he looked no farther. His wife and two sons will arrive from Seattle about July 1 and the elder son will enter college. Dr. Null intends to open an office in Eagle Rock. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are too much a part of Eagle Rock to wish to leave it and will undoubtedly locate in a new home ere long.

EPISCOPALIANS TO DISCUSS AFFAIRS

There is a call for the adult members of St. Barnabas Episcopal church to meet next Monday evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. Robert Renison, 132 Highland avenue, at 8 o'clock to discuss important parish matters.

MRS. MAYNARD IS LAST CLUB HOSTESS

With Mrs. L. M. Maynard acting as hostess, the last card party of the season was given by the Women's Twentieth Century club on Thursday evening, in the reception room of the clubhouse. A jolly game of five hundred was enjoyed. Mrs. Thomas A. Beckett won the ladies' prize for highest score, and K. W. Hunt was the winning gentleman. Consolation gifts were received by Mrs. E. F. Nair and F. E. Prindle.

CANADIAN BUYS EAGLE ROCK LUMBER CO.

Allen and Hamer Retire, As W. J. Bettinger Enters City

It is with regret that Eagle Rock people have learned of the sale of the Shirley Allen lumber yard by Mr. Allen and his associate, A. C. Hamer. It has only been about a year since the proprietors opened this new yard and at once proceeded to do an active business. Both young men are connected with the Congregational church and have many friends. Mr. Hamer is an old resident, and Mr. Allen as a newcomer, at once settling into several lines of social and church service. It is hoped that he will remain in Eagle Rock. The purchasers of the lumber yard are the Wm. J. Bettinger Lumber company. Mr. Bettinger was formerly president of the Imperial Lumber Yards company in Vinings, Manitoba. He now resides in Pasadena and intends to establish a chain of lumber yards in Southern California, with an experienced manager in charge.

MRS. ROACH MAKES THREE SALES IN WEEK

Big Property in Eagle Rock Is Disposed of to Newcomers

Mrs. W. J. Roach in one week sold three pieces of property. A new house and lot at 284 East Sycamore avenue, the southeast corner of Myrtle and Castle avenues, to a Glendale buyer, for $5000, and two lots on East Colorado boulevard.

A Glendale lady and daughter have bought one of the corners of Valley drive and West Ridgeway avenue.

The Patterson home on the corner of West Hill and Eddy avenues has been sold to a family from Ontario, who will soon take possession. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and children will go east to spend the summer.

A couple from Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. Schutze, have purchased what is known as "the Galley place," on North Central avenue and taken possession.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Daniels are living for six weeks on the ranch of their son, H. C. Daniels, while he and his wife are in the east. Mrs. Daniels' two sisters accompanied them to Batavia, Ill.

Mail Want Ad

Write your advertisement in the blank spaces below, just as you want it to appear in the Want Ad columns. Tell your story completely and convincingly if you want to accomplish quick results. Three days' insertion produces more replies than one; a week's insertion is best of all.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

First Insertion—Minimum charge 30 cents, including four lines, counting five words to the line. Additional lines 5 cents per line.

Subsequent Consecutive Insertions—5 cents per line.

Minimum charge for each subsequent insertion, 15 cents.

How to Figure Your Want Ad

Count five average words to each line. The address at the foot of your Want Ad is counted also. Each number, initial, etc., counts as one word. For example, the name, "John C. Smith," is three words; "212 W. Main Street" is four words; "160 acres, 3 miles from railroad, $300 per acre," is nine words, etc. In case you want a keyed or "blind" address used instead, indicate so above. The "blind" address comprises five words and will be counted as part of your advertisement.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

FRISK WOULD RATHER STAY A FOOL THAN—

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

The Widow Squirrel was right. Diver Beaver was better. Those terrible-tasting seeds she made him eat had cured his pain. They'd cured more besides, his taste for berries, for instance. For a long time to come he wouldn't want to look at one. His taste for adventure, as well. Adventures, like berries, were nice, but uncomfortable. Frisk Squirrel's tricks had done more to make a good little beaver of him than all his mother's preaching.

With a Shriek He Flew Staggering Across the Sand.

er's a bigger one. But you're the worst of all even if you are my son. Such goings-on for a squirrel! I get more ashamed of you all the time. If Fool Parsley works as well as that, I'm going to see if it'll cure your foolishness. You come right along!" She went straight to the thicket where it grew, picked a big, fat, smelly seed, and held it out to him. "I mean it," she said. "You gulp this down!"

"No, no, no!" shrieked Frisk, dancing around, as she made a determined step toward him. "I'll be good, I'll be good." But she came sternly on, the seed held in a threatening paw. His little whiskers quivered. Did she really mean to make him take it? She reached out to grab him. With a shriek he fled, staggering across the sand diving through the thicket where the waterfall used to come tumbling down, racing through the reeds beside the Wicked Little Brook—on and on and on—anywhere in the whole wide woods rather than take that awful medicine.

Next Story: FRISK'S FOOLISH PAWS GO WILD AGAIN.

PROVIDENCE HEARS FROM GLENDALE

Harlan A. Page of 408 East Acacia avenue talked over the telephone Wednesday evening to his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts, who were at Providence, R. I. Mr. Page stated that it took about an hour and a half to get a line open, and then he could hear them as distinctly as though they were in Glendale.

BURSONS TO TOUR TO FEATHER RIVER

Albert Burson and family, of 375 West Broadway, left Thursday for an extended camping trip in the Feather river country.

The party will motor to Oroville, from where they will go by rail to the end of the railroad line, using pack horses from that point. They will penetrate the wilds in the vicinity of the Feather river headwaters.

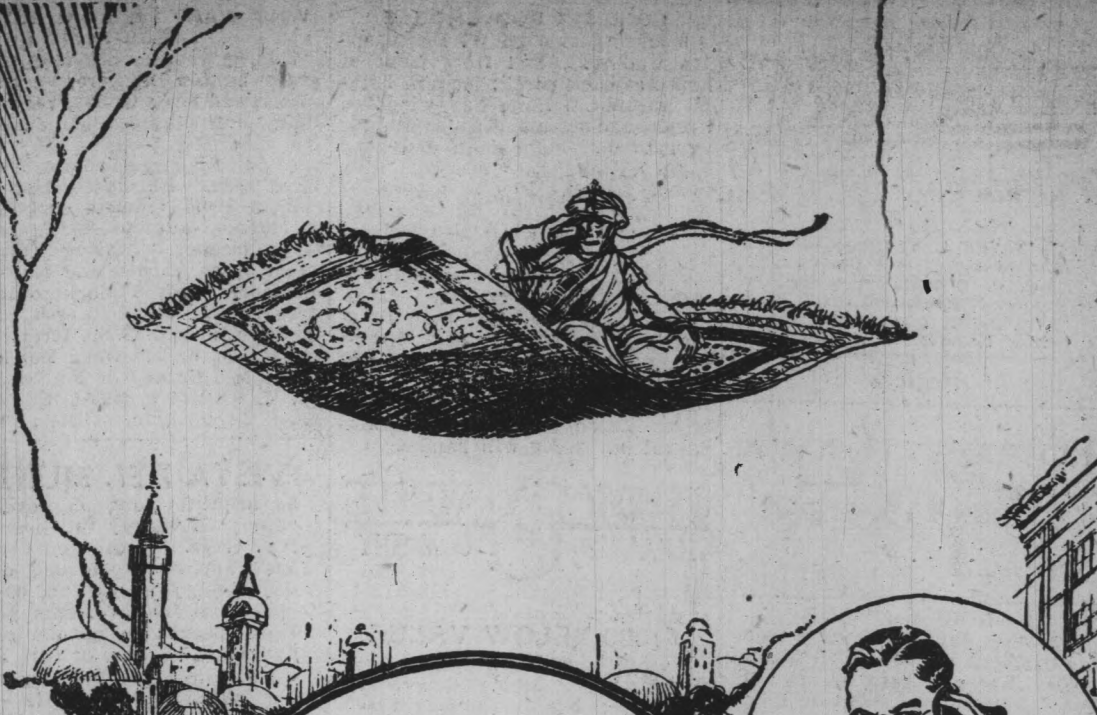

The party was outfitted by the Monarch Auto Supply company, 121 South Brand, including a California tent, "without which," stated Mr. Burson, "the real comforts of a camping trip cannot be enjoyed."

Now for a Trip to the Sage Brush, the Trees and San Dimas Canyon

Bids for a Trip from the Patient Old Bus with the Family on the Back Seat and Eatables Packed for the Campfire Meals

Now for a little trip to the hills. Last week the trip suggested took the motorist down to Laguna and Arch beaches, where the motorist was given a chance to play on the beach, or build a pot of coffee in one of the beautiful little coves. But in order that the owner of the auto may get a breath of the trees and the sagebrush, the trip this week will be to one of the prettiest canyons in this section. San Dimas canyon, where the motorists will be directed this week, lies about 35 miles from Los Angeles, and is almost directly east of Glendale. This canyon lies north-east of the city of San Dimas and is reached from the foothill boulevard, a short distance east of Glendale.

From Glendale, the route lies out East Colorado street, through Eagle Rock to Pasadena. Continue through this place on Colorado street to Santa Anita avenue, where you turn north and continue two blocks. Upon turning east the motorist will be on the celebrated Foothill boulevard. Continue east past the road leading up to Sierra Madre and on to Monrovia. It is to the north of this place that the Sawpit canyon runs. This is often visited by people of that section, especially during the summer season.

Continue east from Monrovia along the Foothill boulevard to and through Duarte, and on to Azusa. The San Gabriel river runs north from Azusa, and during the year thousands of people from this section spend more or less time in this canyon, which is very accessible and is truly a scenic wonder. But on the trip today continue east on the boulevard to a point about eight or ten miles east of Azusa, where signposts erected by the Auto Club of Southern California, will be seen directing the way into San Dimas canyon.

A fairly good road leads for five or six miles up the canyon. Along this road there are dozens of dandy places for the party wishing to camp overnight. A fire permit must be secured from the ranger or fire warden if the motorist wishes to build a fire in this canyon. This is an ideal canyon in which to enjoy a two-day or a day-and-a-half jaunt. If the motorist wants to picnic just for the day, this canyon is equally ideal. It has many little secluded nooks beneath the trees. The farther up the canyon you go the wilder it gets. It is just the place for the tired business man to go if he wants to forget his troubles, or if he wants to come back after the busy cares of the week. A jaunt up into this canyon will make you forget petty troubles and will send you back to the office ready for the hard knocks of the coming week.

When the time comes to leave the canyon, the motorist should proceed down the canyon, past the old quarry, and onto the boulevard. The jaunt home will be, in a measure, different from the outgoing route. After striking the highway, continue west for a distance of possibly a mile and a half, where turn left (south) along the road leading to San Dimas. Continue to and through San Dimas, and along the Covina road to the city by that name. Continue through Covina and down along the Covina-El Monte road to El Monte. After passing through El Monte continue on through Savannah and on to San Gabriel.

From San Gabriel, turn right (north) along the road leading to Lamanda Park. After reaching Lamanda Park, turn left (west) and go to and through Pasadena, across the big Colorado street bridge and on through Pasadena into Glendale.

It will take about two hours and a half comfortable driving to reach San Dimas canyon. The start home should be made in plenty of time so that the scenery along the return trip may be seen. Every inch of the road both outgoing and incoming is beautiful, and this can only be enjoyed during the daylight hours.

When cleaning the top of a car first of all give it a good dusting and follow this up with a sponging of warm water and castle soap. A chamois skin kept especially for the purpose will hasten the drying. Never fold the top until thoroughly dry.

An incomparably beautiful car! A car that is not only distinctive, but ultra-distinctive!

That's how those who have seen the Oldsmobile Super-Sport voice their admiration.

As a matter of fact, this Oldsmobile Super-Sport does set a new high mark for motor car style. It fairly sparkles with originality. Its new rich and striking jersey brown color, harmonizes perfectly with the autumn leaf brown of its finest grade hand buffed leather upholstery. Its long, low, graceful lines suggest at once its predominant characteristic—power, and then more power.

AUTOMOBILE TIRE COMPANY TELLS PRESSURE RULE

Simple System by Which Proper Amount of Air
Can Be Ascertained

"This simple rule can be followed to ascertain the amount of air that should be carried in a tire," said the manager of the Automobile Tire Company, of 211 S. Brand, yesterday. For a rear tire multiply its small diameter by 20 pounds, and for the front tire multiply by 18 pounds. Thus the result in pounds for a tire with a small diameter of four inches would be 80 pounds of air for the rear wheels and 72 pounds for the front wheels.

CHEVROLET'S NEW USELESS LEAKS HOME IS NEARLY READY MEAN GREAT WANT

C. L. Smith Expects to Move Into New Quarters, On Time

C. L. Smith expects to move into his new Chevrolet home at Glendale and Orange during the early part of July. Carpenters and bricklayers are going their best to bring the new building to completion. Some delay was expected in the arrival of the terra cotta decorations but receipt of the shipment assures no hold up on that score. With a record of the sale of 26 Chevrolets during the past month Mr. Smith feels assured of a heavy increase in his new building where he will have more room for display.

Fuel, Oil or Water Loss Means Lack of Power When Needed

Leaks around the car mean power wasted and lost. The leak may be of water, oil or fuel. There are dozens of joints in the engine, and each one may spring a leak under certain conditions. Good gasketing is the best insurance against this trouble. Frequently inspect the joints and, if not sure of the existence of a leak, squirt a little oil over the suspected spot. Bubbles will tell the tale of the leak.

The air-cooled motor requires heavier oil than the water-cooled motor. Careful and sensible driving is regarded as the only real solution to skidding.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR CAMP FIRE

Careless Cigarette, Defective Stove May Mean Forest Flames

As this season promises to be the biggest camping season on record, the forest service is taking every possible precaution to prevent forest fires which are so common during the tourist season. They are regulating the camps so that every camper must clean up around his camp before he leaves for new quarters. Debris and rubbish of all kinds must be cleaned away, and the forest service men are there to see that this work is properly done, and woe to the camper who leaves, or attempts to leave, the camp without so cleaning it up. All those who intend to camp out this summer are especially asked that they take greater precaution than ever to prevent the fires which so quickly raze our fast diminishing forests.

"Put out your fires," "Look out for hot ashes from your cigars and cigarettes," "Help prevent fires!" Such is the appeal from the forest reserve. Many new devices are now on the market that would help this cause and add greater convenience to the camper as well. Instead of the old-fashioned camp fire that is built between two bricks or two logs, that sends the sparks scattering at every little gust of wind, the camping department of Western Auto Supply company offers many improvements in the way of modern folding stoves of either the gas or wood burning type. With one of the gas stoves a meal may be prepared in the time it ordinarily takes to gather firewood. All the conveniences of your gas range at home—just strike a match and, there! you have a roaring fire, ready for cooking or baking. Perhaps you prefer a small wood stove, or a grate that may be set up in a few minutes' time, for nothing is handier than a grate for broiling, and they are just the thing for "weiner roasts."

The lighting proposition is easily solved this year, with a new type light. No more old, "smelly" kerosene lamps or lanterns that give a sickly yellow light, but a nickel-plated light with gas pressure, that throws a white light of 300 candle-power, bright enough to light your whole camp, if desired.

C. H. Roudeshush, the camp expert at Western Auto, is always willing to give you advice as to the best way of making your camping trip a real vacation, and anyone contemplating a trip this summer will find it very much to his advantage to consult Mr. Roudeshush before buying any of his camping outfit.

GRADE CROSSING ELIMINATION

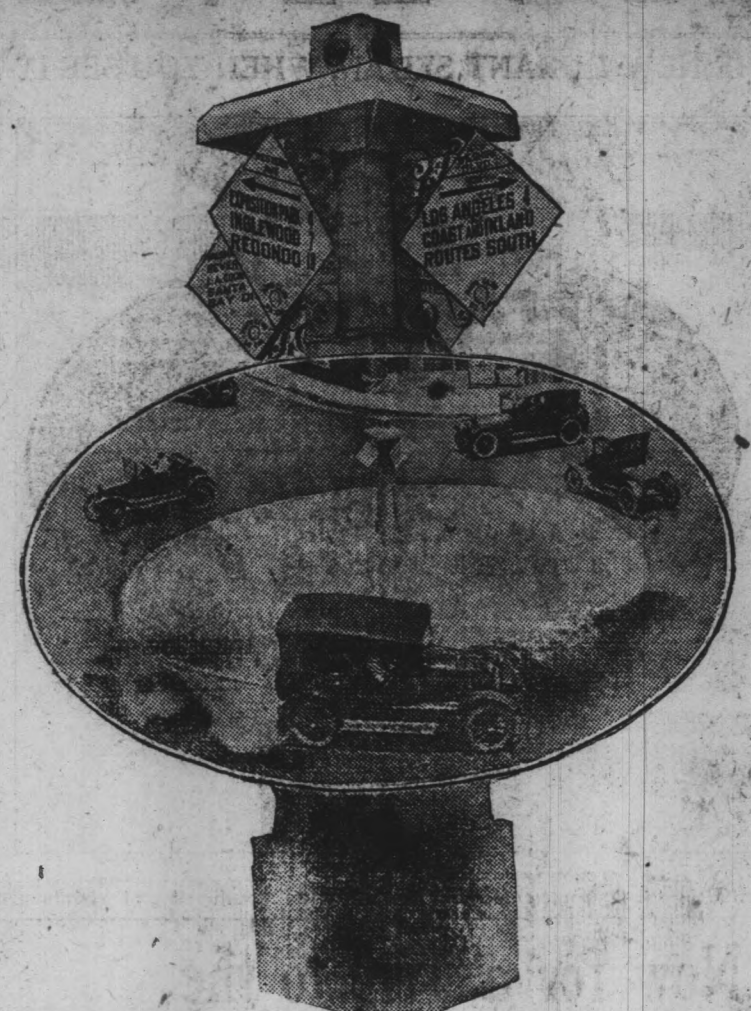

Elimination of grade crossings in Nevada is the object of a conference with representatives of all railroads operating in Nevada, called by the Nevada public service commission for April 23.

Each company will be asked why it should not bear a portion of the expense of overhead and underground crossings, or relocation of existing highways. The action by the commission was taken at the request of State Highway Engineer George W. Borden.

OVERHAUL ONCE YEARLY IS WISE

It is customary to overhaul a motor at least once a year. The valves are ground, carbon removed, bearings refitted and worn parts rebushed or replaced. Added to this, an attractive coat of paint usually constitutes a general overhauling.

MAGIC CIRCLE CONSIDERED FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA TRAFFIC

"Magic Circles" for the control of highway motorcar travel in Southern California, are being considered by many leading cities.

Officials of the Automobile club of Southern California declare that the circle system of travel control solves the difficulty of traffic jams where two lanes of motorcars converge at any street or road intersection.

The scheme has been tried out by the Auto club in Los Angeles with remarkable success, and already many of the Southern California counties are planning to adopt the modern method of eliminating traffic police by using this idea.

A greater volume of traffic can be handled by the "magic circle," so-called, than by the traffic button it is claimed, and an actual check on its operation has been kept by the club's safety bureau.

The circle is between 30 and 40 feet in diameter, with a concrete pillar in the center on which the club places metal direction signs guiding the motorist to local points of interest. This is capped by a flashing electric red light at night to warn motorists approaching the raised curbing of the circle.

Grass can be planted within the curb and thus beautify the corner where it is erected. Los Angeles is planning to install a number of these traffic guides.

DURANT SEDAN IS MOVING PICTURE FAVORITE

Hollywood Appreciates Management of Reliable Garage Explains How It Is Done

"A visit to the many studios from Hollywood to Culver City, or a trip to location, will demonstrate the important part the New Durant Sedan plays in the industry," said I. G. Cooley of the I. G. Cooley Motor Company, 312 So. Brand boulevard today. Stars of greater or lesser degree, actors and actresses whose income is pre-tentious.

"Locations" selected in many and almost inaccessible scenic environment are reached by the ever-ready Durant automobile whose companies leave Los Angeles bound for a stay of several days in some place far from the railroad, and everything is transported by motor equipment. As one moving picture official remarked: "The Durant automobile and the truck are just as necessary to the filming of pictures as are the people in the casts. As the business is conducted today, in many instances one is just as important as the other."

LOOK OUT FOR TROUBLE WHEN JINX RIDES

Management of Reliable Garage Explains How It Is Done

"Whenever a wheel fitted with a cup and cone bearing is removed, the cup of the bearing is removed with it and the bearing must be adjusted in replacing the wheel," said John Boothe of the Reliable Garage, 310 E. Colorado, yesterday. The proper way to do this is to turn the bearing up tight and then revolve the wheel a few times by hand. This does away with any tendency to backlash. Next the adjusting nut is backed off very slightly, so that by grasping two spokes in line, one above and the other below the hub, a slight shake is felt in the wheel. This movement should be just barely perceptible, and if it is more than this it is too much and the adjusting nut should be a little tighter. When this condition has been gotten just right, lock the wheel in place."

Garage floors, which are not kept clean and on which tires stand in a pool of oil, cause the tread to soften and the traction strain in service stretches the rubber in wavy outline.

WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY TO ENLARGE

Reception of Live Company Overwhelms the Present Quarters

Glendale is growing faster and business booming greater than even the residents are able to realize.

Recognition of this fact is being noted most carefully by the prominent business concerns who are enjoying a most wonderful volume of all business.

The most recent incident is the report today of the Western Auto Supply company of Los Angeles that has operated their new branch store in Glendale only a little more than one month. Business was so much greater than they had contemplated that they found it advisable to enlarge the Glendale store.

Their present store at 205 South Brand boulevard, is 25x80 feet. Arrangements are being made to take in the adjoining storeroom on the south, making the new store about 50 by 80 feet.

This will be the largest auto accessory and supply store in Glendale and with the large and complete assortment of tires, accessories and all supplies in this line, carried by the Western Auto Supply company, the automobile owners of Glendale should appreciate the fact that such an institution exists in Glendale providing the same variety of merchandise, the same service and low prices that they would get in Los Angeles.

The report is a tribute to our growing city of Glendale. This is only another evidence that the great enthusiasm and fond hope of our citizens concerning the rapid growth and wonderful business possibilities of Glendale are being realized.

NEW COUPE IS ANNOUNCED BY DODGE BROS.

Combines Sturdy Quality With Beauty of Line and Richness of Finishing

Behind the simple phraseology of an announcement which Dodge Brothers, Detroit automobile manufacturers, are publishing today in every important city and town in America, lies the story of a new achievement in automobile development. "Dodge Brothers announce a business coupe; conservative changes in the body design of all other types," the advertisement reads.

The business coupe is the first all-steel closed car ever marketed. In this respect it takes a new distinct place in automotive history, for it involves an entirely unique principle of coupe body construction. The steel body not only practically eliminates the problem of limited production, due to the tedious and costly individual workmanship required, on wood bodies, but also enables the manufacturers to give the coupe the same lustrous baked enamel finish which has already contributed so much to the reputation of Dodge Brothers open cars. This process in itself will also facilitate quantity production, as an enormous amount of time was consumed heretofore in applying the numerous coats of paint required on wood.

Naturally, these are important factors in the determination of the selling price, resulting in economies which Dodge Brothers are passing directly to the purchaser. "Wood is practically eliminated from the construction of this car," said George E. Clayton, 145 South Brand blvd., the local dealer. "Even the framework and panels are of steel, and the natural result is a lighter, quieter and more durable car. Steel prolongs life and reduces the possibility of squeaks and rattles."

CAR BUYERS WANT MAXIMUM SILENCE

Distributor of Willys-Knight, Overland, Tells Why of Sales

A man who wears shoes that pinch his sore corns and make walking a miserable pastime will battle to the limit for comfort in his automobile. Experienced car salesmen have learned this truth and say that the ordinary car buyer insists on real motoring comfort.

This insistent demand has been particularly noticed by Geo. T. Smith, local distributor for the Overland and Willys-Knight cars, 228 So. Brand boulevard.

"A man will sleep in a lumpy bed, or on the floor, or will nap in a most uncomfortable position in a chair, but when it comes to a motor car he demands his ease," said Mr. Smith. "The seats must be inclined at just the proper angle, the car must ride easily, the cushions must be soft and the engine must function without noise or rattle. For these reasons we have so good a representation in the motor car traffic of Glendale."

PEDESTRIANS ARE BECOMING DODGERS

When automobiles first became popular, only the most reckless pedestrian would start across the street when there was a car coming within a block. Today men, women and children drive carelessly into the path of taxicabs, busses and trucks, trusting their lives to the skill of the drivers and the efficiency of brakes. Truly, it is the infrequency of accidents, considering conditions, that should cause astonishment, rather than the number of accidents.

CADILLAC DESIRE IN COUNTIES COMBINE EVERY MAN SAYS W. H. COURT

Glendale Distributor Explains the Why of the Demand

"Every man cherishes a desire to own a Cadillac automobile some day," said W. H. Court, Glendale dealer for the Cadillac motor car, yesterday. He ardently desires to own one of these cars," he continued, "because he knows that the Cadillac is conceded to be the best car on the market today."

"The Cadillac fulfills the desire of every man to own an automobile that is the acme of perfection and one that is a masterpiece of perfect workmanship. It is this workmanship and completeness of detail that has made the Cadillac motor cars lead the sales market for large cars. It leads where quality and beauty combined are desired."

"Another reason for the preference for the Cadillac automobile is that this machine reflects the taste and standards of the owner. The reflection of taste and standards is important with a successful man because an automobile is the outward sign of his success and position in life."

"A man is judged by the automobile he drives. If he drives a small car that looks shoddy, no matter how much money the man may be worth and what his position in life, he will be judged by his car. The driver of a Cadillac is judged as a man of discernment and good taste. The quality of workmanship that is put into the motor and body of a Cadillac is an indicator that he is a man of keen business judgment."

"The Cadillac car has the reputation of being the acme of automotive perfection and enjoyment. We pledge ourselves to uphold rigidly the standards of this car, that it may be always worthy of the tribute that is paid it by these future Cadillac owners."

AGAINST 'SMART ALECK' DRIVERS

Automobile Club Gives Warning of Prompt Arrests Planned

Unexpected raids on motorists who evade the highway laws of the state, will feature touring here this summer, say county authorities throughout the southern part of the state.

Officials of the Automobile club of Southern California today issue a warning that motorists will be arrested this summer in practically every county for slight infringements of the law, as these small evasions often cause serious accidents.

Here is what the auto owner must watch out for, according to the auto club's legal department:

Motorists must keep to the right-hand side of the road or curb when driving, or they will be liable to arrest for blocking the highway.

If only one headlight is burning you can be arrested.

Watch your tail-light. If it is not burning you will be arrested this summer sure.

Do not begin to turn to the left until you have passed the center of the highway or street intersection.

Do not fail to give the proper hand signal when you slow down or stop.

"Smart Aleck" drivers will be arrested at every opportunity.

Auto owners who have acquired a habit of driving five or eight miles faster than any certain zone speed limit will have to mend their ways and observe the exact letter of the law in Southern California this summer.

Inspect your bumpers. If either one hides a license plate you will be arrested.

Call up the auto club for the latest legal advice on all state laws.

5000 VISIT NEW WOOLWORTH STORE

Music Furishes Entertainment During Entire Afternoon and Eve.

The opening of the new Woolworth store on Friday at 111 N. Brand boulevard, drew a great part of Glendale's buying public to inspect their new store and their merchandise. Over 5000 spectators took advantage of the reception being held from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 9 at which time splendid musical numbers were given by William Bode's orchestra.

There were no sales made whatever on Friday, but great interest was manifested in inspecting the goods and it was noted that they are selling the best for the least possible.

One will find on display everything in household needs from a tack hammer to the baby's rattle and no article sells for more than 15 cents. One of their special features is their candies, made by Matthews, which usually sells for 60 cents a pound, while they sell them for 40 cents.

They have an especially attractive favor and table department, from which one may get many clever ideas. Their ribbons are of splendid quality and of a great variety, as are many other much-needed articles.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cole of 122 Arden avenue left Friday afternoon on a motor trip to Fresno. The trip is one of pleasure and they expect to return on Monday.

A. L. Baird of 637 North Orange street and W. C. Page returned Friday morning from San Francisco where they have been attending the Shriner's convention since Sunday.

SLEEPING DRIVERS MENACE ROAD TRAFFIC

Long Hours on Highway Is Cause of Many Accidents

Danger threatens motorists on the highways from drivers of trucks and auto busses who are practically asleep at the wheel, according to word received by officials of the Automobile club of Southern California.

It is reported by investigators of the safety situation in Southern California that lives are endangered on the roads by truck drivers who are forced to drive for so many hours at a stretch, in order to hold their jobs, that they fall asleep at the wheel.

If such a situation exists, it is unjust to the general traveling public, and drastic action will be taken by the auto club to remedy it, say club officers.

"Sleepy drivers have no business at a steering wheel," declares the club, and the sooner they are ruled off the highways the better. If necessary, and it is found that truck drivers are compelled by their employers or choose to drive for so many hours without rest that they fall asleep, legislative action should be taken at Sacramento.

"An automobile of any kind in the hands of a sleepy driver is a menace to the public, and a huge truck handled by a sleeper is much worse," it is pointed out.

An effort will be made throughout the Southern California counties to have all employers adjust the hours of their drivers so that no individual will find it necessary to drive for a period longer than physical endurance can stand, it is declared.

Bus drivers must be relayed so that they will not be at the wheel for periods which make them sleepy and so cause serious accidents, says the auto club. A complete investigation of the matter is to be made by the organization at once.

NEW MAXWELL IS DISTINCTIVE

Fine Finish of Body, Fender and Hood Given by Special Varnish

One of the distinctive features of the new Maxwell car is the wonderful finish on body fenders and hood, as shown at the Glendale Motor Car company's showrooms, 124 West Colorado street.

Mr. Mitchell, vice president of the Maxwell company, is interested in one of the large paint companies of the middle west, and by laboratory experiment has developed the varnish and enamel that will retain its lustre under the hardest kind of service, and withstand the destructive elements of both sun and rain.

The wonderful finish on the new Maxwell car is a matter of general comment. This feature, with the improvement in body design, easy riding, and complete lack of vibration, has made the Maxwell car in much demand all over the country.

LITTLE KINKS SAVE TROUBLE

Odds and Ends of Things That Might Help When the Jinx Shows Up

Very often a little kink explained by the automobile editor saves the motorists hours of time and dollars of expense. These little time and money savers should be laid away for a future time, for no motorist knows just when they will be needed.

Following are a few suggestions that may be of value:

A slight wobble of a wheel of only one degree actually drags the tire sideways 320 feet in each 1000 miles, which causes excessive strain on the car as well as the tires.

Metallic club emblems, placed on the radiator, should be carefully fastened with leather or felt washers. Merely attaching them with bolts or wire will injure the cells of the radiator and cause a leak in the cooling system.

Every time a spark plug is removed for cleaning a little graphite should be spread on the thread. This will permit the plugs to be set down to their limit without danger of destroying the threads, and at the same time the graphite will help prevent leakage of the gas under compression. The plugs will be easily removed next time.

To add to the life of the springs and to afford additional riding comfort, lubricate well between the spring leaves. If no leaf wedge or spreader is at hand a screwdriver can be used by driving it between the leaves, at a point near the end of each lower leaf. Use a thin oil, into which has been mixed a small amount of graphite, squirting between the leaves with a hand oiler, allowing the oil to drain toward the center of the leaf, removing screwdriver.

It is often hard to keep up appearances and keep up with expenses.

ALL ROADS TO BIG BEAR OPEN SAYS MONARCH MAN

California Tent Is the Goods for the Cold Nights, He Reports

Robert C. Plume of the Monarch Auto Supply company, 121 South Brand, returning from a trip to Big Bear lake, states that all auto roads to this popular resort are now open.

Mr. Plume, his family, and Horatio Butts, left late Saturday night, arriving at Big Bear lake Saturday morning, returning to Glendale Monday afternoon.

Mr. Plume states that there is more water in the lake this year than for a number of years past, and that fishing is at its best now. Not only are the fish biting better, but they are at their best for eating purposes, as, coming from the cold water, they are hard and firm.

Real estate has enjoyed a steady advance, according to Mr. Plume. Lots that sold around $200 two years ago are now moving at $500 to $600. The usual heavy influx of vacationists is just getting under way. All the resorts are open, and the biggest season in Bear lake's history is looked for.

Mr. Plume's party had a most enjoyable trip, and overcame the discomfort of the cold nights by the use of the California tent. This tent, states Mr. Plume, is as warm as a house, due to the fact that it has a canvas floor stitched to the walls of the tent, which prevents wind or drafts from entering.

STORAGE BATTERIES

Another indication of charging at too high a rate is the temperature of the cells themselves. It is good practice never to allow this to exceed 100 degrees, and if it reaches 105 degrees, the charge should be stopped immediately and the battery given a chance to cool before resuming charge. Nothing shortens the life of the battery so rapidly as allowing it to become overheated, as this tends to expand the active material and force it out of the grids. Where a battery thermometer is not employed to check the temperature of the cells during the charge, the necessity for refilling them with distilled water at unusually short periods is a certain indication that the charging is done at too high a rate, causing rapid evaporation and consequently losses.

Sulphating

At the end of the discharge, both plates are covered with lead sulphate. The conversion of the active material of the plates into lead sulphate which takes place during the discharge is the normal reaction and, as such, occasions no damage. But if the cells are allowed to stand for any length of time in discharged condition, the sulphate not only continues to increase in bulk but becomes hard. It is also likely to become white and therefore, white spots found on the plates of a cell when it is dismantled are an indication that it has been neglected. When the plates are in this condition they have lost their porosity to a certain extent and it is correspondingly more difficult for the charging current to penetrate the active material. When a battery has stood in a discharged condition for any length of time and the longer it stands in this condition, the more likely it is to be seriously damaged. The only method of preventing sulphating is the monthly conditioning or equalizing charge already mentioned. Where sulphating has occurred, it may be remedied by long continued charging at a low rate, frequently extending over two or three days. With a badly sulphated battery the charge should be continued until there has been no rise in the specific gravity of the electrolyte for a period of twelve hours. An individual cell may become sulphated by adding excess acid to the electrolyte, (thus giving false specific reading showing that the cell is fully charged when, in fact, it is only partly charged); by an internal short circuit; or by drying out caused by failure to maintain the electrolyte at the proper height or by leaky jar.

Internal Damage

Internal damage is usually caused by an internal short circuit due either to an accumulation of sediment reaching the plates or to the breaking of a separator, which may be caused by the active material being forced out of the grid, a process usually termed buckling. Overheating on charge or a dead short-circuit on discharge will bring about the latter. It is important to be able to determine whether or not the low efficiency of a certain cell is caused by internal trouble without having to dismantle the cell itself. For this purpose a good portable voltmeter is necessary.

RADIO CONVENTION

TORONTO, Ont., June 15.—A dominion-wide radio convention will be held in Toronto on September 8 and 9.

RADIO EXAMINATIONS

In a way I suppose this should be classified as funny stuff but in the true sense of the word it wasn't funny stuff to the parties concerned. However, I was among those present at the examinations yesterday and have just discovered the reason why some of those taking the test fail. Simply because the fellow next to him has hay fever when the test begins and his knees beat a tattoo which is so as to drown out all other sounds. Fellow to your left joins in the chorus by chewing two inches off of his pencil, fellow in front of you is so nervous he shakes table so that you can't write and the other fellow talks to himself. Result is one grand jumble. You ain't heard nothing yet. Fellow a few seats away from me bit off one of his finger nails and propelled it into the ether where it found a resting place in another fellow's eye, who as a result lost about twenty minutes time in extracting said finger nail and to the tune of missing about five questions. So after all there really is some excuse for failures in the examinations. Of course you probably think that this is all bunk and merely written here to fill up space, but you know the old saying, seeing is believing, so if you don't believe this just take in the next exam and see.

PRESS—Newton Radio Station

Will the station ever get going? That is the question foremost in many minds and a similar question is foremost in our minds. Of course you have already read of the arrival of the set but after unpacking the set it was found that they had shipped a five-watt set instead of a fifty watt set. But don't worry, that won't cause much of a delay for it is under process of conversion at this writing and will very likely be already again by Monday. It is being converted into a fifty watt set by the Leo J. Meyberg company of Los Angeles.

PHOTOGRAPHS AND MOVIES SENT BY LONG DISTANCE CAMERA VIA RADIO

Photographs, and perhaps motion pictures can be sent by radio. The noted inventor, C. Francis Jenkins, says this can be accomplished by an epoch-making invention, the long distance camera. The device which he uses will send a photograph in secret, a great weapon in warfare on criminology.

The inventor, Jenkins, says that within a year he expects to have apparatus so perfected that long distance cameras with sending and receiving sets will be in the hands of the public for sending photographs by radio any distance.

Pictures have already been sent from one room to another in the inventor's laboratories and the reproduction is faithful in every respect.

Uses Glass Disks

Two prismatic glass disks are used in front of the lens to take the picture. The view is caught by a sensitive photo-electric cell which is connected with an ordinary radio sending set. Beams of light are stepped up to high frequency electric waves. They are sent in the same manner as sound waves are translated into radio waves and broadcasted. At the receiving end there is a device that takes the place of the headpiece. The waves are stepped down to beams of light and the images, taken miles away, are impressed on the film or plate. The plate is developed and printed in the same manner as any photographic plate.

Movie Pictures

With the use of a different apparatus at the receiving end the picture can be thrown on the screen. Radio waves are impressed with picture characterizations instead of sound characterizations. The picture sending set takes the place of the audio and the receiving set takes the place of the telephone receivers. It is not necessary to first take a photograph. A camera with an inexpensive portable aerial can take the picture and at the same time automatically send it in secret or broadcast it. Pictures of criminal suspects can be taken and instantly duplicated in every police station in the country.

TWO WAVES BEAR HARDING'S SPEECH

WASHINGTON.—President Harding spoke to everyone in the country who has a good receiving set, through the naval broadcasting system, when he made his address at Arlington cemetery on Decoration Day. This was the first time that he or any chief executive has addressed as large a number of citizens, and it officially opened the navy's dual broadcasting system using two wave lengths simultaneously.

Through the co-operation of the A. T. & T. Co., wires were strung from the amphitheater, where a microphone was placed in front of the speaker, to the naval radio stations at Arlington, near at hand, and to the air station at Anacostia across the Potomac. Arlington, NAA, transmitted the speech on a 2650 meter wave, and Anacostia on a 412 meter wave. This dual broadcasting, just perfected by the naval communications service, carried the President's address to receiving stations within a radius of about 550 miles on the short wave from Anacostia, and distant stations on the Pacific coast and to ships on the Atlantic on the long wave from Arlington, which carried 1500 miles. This was the first public demonstration of this system capable of expansion so that a government official could talk to the English-speaking world.

APPEAL FOR HELP BY RADIO

Radio brought relief to the stricken city of Beardstown, Ill., which was caught when the Illinois river recently reared over its banks and rushed over occupied land. To cap the climax a levee was reported to have broken and all parts of the city caught by the flood waters.

A relief committee immediately dispatched telegrams to all parts of the country asking for relief. To supplement this, an appeal was broadcasted from various points of the country, and it is estimated several million people were informed of the city's distress by this method. Local radio stations throughout the country were asked, in the broadcasted appeal, to copy the message and to inform their home town newspapers. And so, no part of the country, however remote, was uninformed of the suffering in Beardstown.

NEW YORK POLICE PLANS

Plans to equip the patrol automobiles of the New York city police department with radiophone apparatus is announced as part of a war on bandits.

Negotiations for the wireless equipment, it is understood, have been conducted by Michael R. Bhenman, superintendent of telegraph of the police department. Provision is being made for a broadcasting station that will keep in touch with all police automobiles at all times of the day and night, whether traveling at high speed or standing still.

EXPLAINS RECENT GRAND UPROAR

If you happened to have been in on the "grand uproar" this week and thought it part of a broadcast course in higher mathematics, you were mistaken. It was Arthur Korn, a German inventor, transferring a photograph from a high-power station in Rome to an American naval vessel at sea by means of radio. Professor Korn's success brings into actual and practical use another variation of the now versatile science.

AMERICAN LEGION MEMBER DRIVE DATE SET

Post, Auxiliary, to Start
Canvassing City on Next Saturday

The American Legion drive for membership in Glendale will start on next Saturday, was the announcement of Chairman Wittmeyer, of the membership drive committee, last night at the meeting of Glendale Post No. 127 of the American Legion. Practically all plans for the drive have been completed and district captains, with their precinct workers, are ready to start canvassing for eligible candidates. The auxiliary will cooperate in this drive and canvass for members to that organization.

A meeting of the membership committees of both organizations will be held in the offices of Commander James McBryde of the Legion, next Tuesday night, to perfect the last minute details of the drive.

Chairman Wittmeyer announced that five prizes will be awarded the workers in the drive, for the greatest number of new members secured. Two prizes will be awarded to Legion members securing the most new members; two prizes for auxiliary members, and one prize for both Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary to contest for.

There are said to be 1500 men and women in Glendale eligible to membership in either the Legion or the auxiliary. It is the object of these two organizations to secure at least 1000 of these eligibles. The city has been divided into four districts, and in charge of four captains. These districts will be divided into precincts, with a HETCH HETCHY, Calif., June 17.—San Francisco's $5,500,000 reservoir and dam here, a part of the city's $45,000,000 Hetch Hetchy water project, will ultimately supply 400,000,000 gallons of water daily to 4,000,000 people, and worker assigned to each precinct. Every former service man will be canvassed by the workers and urged to join the Legion. The auxiliary will call on the women eligible to membership in that organization.

The house committee was instructed last night to confer with the executive committee on a plan to provide amusement at the hall during the week between meeting nights. The committees are to thoroughly discuss the plan and take any action necessary.

Comrade Weller addressed the members regarding the plans for securing a Legion building in Glendale. He urged the cooperation of every member in this work. In making the plea for cooperation he said, "Nothing can be accomplished without cooperation. If it were not for cooperation there would be no California, no west; in fact, there would be no America. Let us all cooperate and do everything possible to put over this plan to secure a home for our post—to secure a home that we can point to with pride as our own." After the regular meeting the members enjoyed the eats supplied by Comrade Delgado, chairman of the refreshment committee.

give 200,000 hydro-electric horsepower, will be completed by December 15, according to City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy, who is head of the great undertaking. O'Shaughnessy has just completed a tour of the project.

In company with other engineers, he has just completed a minute survey of the dam, which is 226 feet above the stream level. The dam is now about 60 per cent completed. The foundation of the dam extends 118 feet below the stream level and is 298 feet broad at the bottom.

Workmen are now engaged in setting the huge gate valves, which will control the water to be passed through the dam, and which will form a part of the outlet system for the dam when completed. High water has interfered somewhat with concrete pouring this month, or otherwise a new world's record for concrete pouring would have been established, engineers declare. Last month more than 41,000 cubic yards of concrete were placed on the dam—the record thus far.

More than 60,000,000 gallons of water will be stored in the Hetch Hetchy reservoir, when the project is completed, which will reach over 110,000,000 gallons. Eventually the dam will be raised to 312 feet above the stream level.

O'Shaughnessy also inspected the Lake Eleanor dam. The Eleanor dam impounds waters of a lake covering 948 acres at high water. This water is used to generate the power now being used on the Hetch Hetchy project.

Engineers expect to hole through the tunnel from Forty-sixth camp on the Tuolumne river to South Fork on July 16. These will be the first tunnel headings to be constructed on the 18.3 miles of aqueduct tunnel on the mountain division of the project. Work is now being done on ten tunnel headings.

O'Shaughnessy and his party also inspected the 420,000 acres of watersheds controlled by San Francisco in the Sierra Nevada during their stay.

LITTLE NEWSSTAND MAN IS HONORED BY ENGLAND

Wears Medal for Defense of Canada in Feinian
Raid of '66

When the Fenians raided Canada in 1866 there was among the Canadian defenders a private, W. G. Evans, one of the 100,000 who answered the call to arms.

W. G. Evans today is in Glendale conducting the Little News Stand at the corner of Brand boulevard and East Broadway. He is wearing a medal awarded him by Queen Victoria of England for taking a part in the defense of Canada against the invaders.

The story of the Fenian raid is told by Mr. Evans in an interesting one.

After the Civil war, General O'Neill formed an army of Irish soldiers, some of them veterans of the war. A campaign to raise funds for the invasion of Canada was started. It is said that letters were written to all Irish servant girls in the United States and all Irishmen asking for contributions to buy equipment for the raiders.

Arms and ammunition, equipment and supplies were purchased from the United States government, which was anxious to dispose of the equipment of the soldiers used during the war. The United States later paid Canada an indemnity of $10,000,000 for making these sales of equipment to the invaders.

Canada issued a call to the colors and 100,000 men responded. The defenders were stationed along the border between Canada and the United States to meet and turn back the invaders. The work of this border patrol was hard and with little glory attached. Long hours of guard and occasionally a slight skirmish.

The detachment to which Mr. Evans belonged met a band of the raiders and in a running fight pursued them to Lake Erie from the province of Quebec. The raiders were taken aboard the United States Gunboat Michigan only after they discarded all of their guns and equipment. This unsuccessful attempt was the practical end of the Fenian raid.

Mr. Evans said that nearly every man in the Canadian forces secured canteens and other articles of equipment as souvenirs of the raid.

After the trouble had been settled the matter of rewarding the volunteers was discussed. The territory of Canada did not have sufficient funds to award medals and England was suffering a financial depression. Queen Victoria had the medals cast and awarded to every man. These medals were paid for out of the queen's private funds. Each member of the defending forces was awarded 360 acres of land in Canada in addition to the decoration.

Mr. Evans wears the medal every day and is justly proud of it. He says that it is the only medal of its kind in Glendale and that there are very few of them in the entire United States.

Mr. Evans is of a military family. His father was a major in the Royal Welch Fusiliers. He served with this regiment until awarded a medal of honor and retired with a substantial pension for life.

CYCLONE SWEEPS WESTERN WISCONSIN

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 17.—Ten are known dead, more than 100 injured, and property damage will run above $5,000,000 as the result of the cyclone which swept over four western Wisconsin counties late yesterday.

The twister, two miles wide, started four miles west of Reed, Wis., and wrought havoc and destruction in its path of 15 miles. The town of Forest, St. Croix county, was hardest hit. Property damage will exceed $1,000,000. Fifty homes were wrecked at Clear Lake.

One hundred farms were destroyed in the stormswep area. Scores of cattle were killed and thousands of acres of growing grain ruined.

A lot of men tre no better than they ought to be, and we feel that they need our advice, but at that very time they are thinking the same of us.

INNOVATIONS IN TICKETS ADOPTED BY GLENDALE CLUB

Executive Board to Provide
Coupons for Guests
During Next Season

One of the innovations proposed and adopted at the recent meeting of the executive board of the Glendale Music Club was the issuance of coupons for concerts with the ticket issued when dues are paid for the first half year. The plans of the board contemplate four concerts during the first half year and four during the last half year. In each instance five coupons will be issued that members may have a guest ticket for one of the concerts.

At the present time the initiation fee is $2, and the membership fee $4, payable semi-annually. All who join this summer will be given the benefit of this rate. The first of October the initiation fee will be raised to $4.

An informal membership drive is commencing within a few days in an effort to increase the membership to 1000. The larger the membership the better the programs.

One of the new things which the board voted to do is to invite the various musical organizations, including the choruses in the schools, to appoint representatives to meet with the executive board of the club as an advisory committee. Already several organizations have taken steps to take this action, which will give contact with one another and promote musical interests throughout the community.

Several letters of appreciation from various organizations were read, one of special interest being from the Ministerial association, which will be properly acknowledged by the corresponding secretary.

M'CORMICK HAS GLAND GRAFTED

CHICAGO, June 17.—Harold F. McCormick, millionaire harvester manufacturer, was recovering today from a secret operation at the Wesley Memorial hospital.

The operation was performed last Monday by Dr. Victor D. Lespinasse, famous surgeon, who disputed with Dr. Voronoff, the French specialist, right for honor in discovery of the method of grafting glands of animals on men to restore vigor.

Great secrecy surrounded the operation, and news of it leaked out today by merest chance.

"It was only a minor operation and Mr. McCormick will soon be going home," officials of the hospital said today.

The race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong, but not many Derby winners are dray horses and there isn't much danger of Liberia's conquering the world.

GAMBLING FOR YOUR BREAKFAST

BUENOS AIRES, June 16.—The most original restaurant in the world is to be seen in Paseo de Julio, a waterfront street of Buenos Aires.

The whole establishment consists of a great pot about one yard in diameter and an equally large fork. The chef, an Italian, is ready to attend customers from 9 a. m. to late in the evening.

The daily dish is always the same, "puchero," to make which the cook and at the same time the owner of the house, fills the pot with water and lets a few pieces of meat and bones drip to the bottom, then he adds some coloring material in order to give the whole a touch of mystery and to make the meat in the bottom invisible.

The regular customers come from the ships of every nationality at anchor in port, also some native longshoremen lend their patronage to the house. Generally at noon the street is crowded by clients.

Everyone pays five cents and receives from the owner the fork. With this, the customer dips the fork into the dark, boiling water. The fork goes to the bottom of the pot. If the client is lucky enough or has had experience the fork hits a piece of meat and the client fishes the meat out and devours it.

If it so happens that the meat is left untouched by the fork, five cents is paid again, this entitling the man to a new trial.

A prize of a solid, hand-embroidered, copper "tidy" should be awarded to any magazine that can go through the summer without having a picture of a bathing girl on the cover.

From Waste to Thrift

Enough wasted
capital to build homes for all

The wasteful family piles up rent receipts from year to year—unless fire burns them or the mice make nests in them.

The thrifty family turns a rent receipt into a payment on a home, thereby saving moving inconvenience and expense and avoiding the annual house-hunting nuisance.

Uncle Sam urges you to be thrifty; likewise every business man in the town. But, more than all, your wife and the kiddies are mute petitions every time you see them or think of them—to be thrifty and build your own home, and theirs.

Lop off a few of the unnecessary expenditures which every man has; add the sum saved to what you now pay for rent and the expenses of moving and wear and tear on furniture. You will be surprised how easily you can build a home on your present income.

Visit our display rooms and see hundreds of photographs and plans for homes—including the very one you want. We will be glad to serve you.

AMERICAN SLIDES SUNDAY NIGHT AT CHURCH

Two Pictures and Two Subjects at First Christian

The beauty of America will be shown by slides at the First Christian church. Seventy slides, showing "America Beautiful," and "The Hymn of the Continent," will be shown at the church at the services Sunday night. Rev. L. G. Parker, pastor, will speak on two topics at the morning services, which start at 11 o'clock. "Why I Am a Christian," and "Do Men of Today Need the Church?" will be his subjects. Two women who hated each other so heartily that they always kissed when they met were talking in that sweetly affectionate way in which women on such terms converse. One said, with a sigh, "My, how I hate to think of my thirtieth birthday!" "Heavens!" said the other, innocently. "What a memory you've got! Did something unpleasant happen on that day?"

Babson's Letter

CERTAIN LABOR BECOMING
SCARCE, SAYS BABSON

The Statistician Sees Promises of General Improvement in Increase of Employment

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., June 17.—With the news full of strikes, threatened strikes and labor unrest, Roger W. Babson, statistician, today issued the following statement regarding general industrial situation: "For some time," said Mr. Babson, "business in the East has been reviving. Were it not for the textile and other strikes in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, business conditions in New England, New York state and Pennsylvania would be very good today. During the past year, the Central West has been the weakest spot in the business situation. The abrupt drop in the price of grains, livestock and other farm products left the agricultural sections of our country in a very bad condition. You will remember the Farmers' conference at Washington and various forms of aid enacted by congress and different state legislatures.

"The rise in agricultural products, however, which occurred a few months ago, accompanied by the good weather conditions of the past few weeks, has made the farmers feel very much better. Reports which I am receiving from correspondents in the West are truly encouraging. This applies not only to the agricultural districts, but also to the mining and lumber business. Even the automobile industry, which is such a factor throughout Ohio and Indiana, is feeling much more encouraged. Of course, the union coal fields are quiet, but the non-union fields are active each week. The cut in freight rates should help the coal and lumber business. The demand for cotton continues strong and the South is gradually feeling better. This better feeling throughout the West and South is reflected by the improvement in the business of the mail order houses. The customers of the mail order houses are largely in the rural districts. This shows that the farmers have again begun to buy. This is very gratifying and is one of the reasons for the continued strong stock market.

"Owing to the change in the foreign trade situation and the sale of foreign bonds in this country, sterling exchange is much stronger. Although it may be only a temporary movement, the whole foreign situation looks better than it has looked for some time. Private advices tell me that a settlement is being approached between Germany, England and France, regarding the German reparations. If this is so, it should be distinct impetus to business, both by causing Europe to buy from this country and giving this country confidence to loan Europe. Although no change has taken place in the Russian situation during the past week, yet signs even in Russia are favorable at the moment. For the first time in many years, things look encouraging in Europe.

"The strike situation in New England is gradually clearing up. The strike in Providence is about over and production in all the mill cities is gradually increasing. It is believed that mills will have all the men they desire after the Fourth of July. Another factor helping the mill situation is the fact that many of the dissatisfied employees are getting positions elsewhere. There is considerable demand for common labor today. Many of the striking employees from the textile and other mills have been able to get a satisfactory wage in connection with the building and other trades. Thus there is very little suffering or hardship in these mill cities. The strikes may never be officially declared off. They may be ended by the mill owners securing other employees from the country districts, who have never before worked in the mills, and by the old mill workers getting positions in other lines of activity. The strike is developing largely into a swapping of jobs. So far as the general welfare of the country is concerned, this is as satisfactory as to have the strikers go back. The average business man is primarily interested in having people employed, and to business as a whole, it makes little difference for whom individuals work. "I prophesy that the threatened railway strike will end by the men shifting jobs. These men engaged in the maintenance of way, are largely men who have not been able to secure positions in trades. Under present business conditions the cut is justified, as these men could not secure elsewhere a wage equivalent to what the railroads are now paying them. If, however, business begins to improve this summer, and the demand for labor increases, it is very probable that the best of these maintenance-of-way men will get positions in the building and other trades while the railroads will import a new lot of men from the country.

"For the past year or two we have seen in the papers accounts merely of wage cuts. Reductions have run all the way from 10 per cent to 50 per cent, with an average of about 25 per cent. I should not be surprised to see some advances from this time on. The Firestone Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio, has already advanced wages 10 per cent. Other concerns which are temporarily short of labor are offering more money. It is, however, interesting to note that the labor unions were not successful in holding up wages at the time of the decline and are not forcing increase at this time. History is simply repeating itself. The law of supply and demand determines wages as it determines prices. If business begins to pick up this summer, as I anticipate it will, the demand for labor will increase. Owing to the fact that immigration has been cut off, this will necessarily cause employers to bid against one another and wages will again go up, for a time at least. Considering a long period of years into the future, the trend of wages may continue downward, but a temporary upturn would not be surprising.

"The Babsonchart on business conditions is acting in a very peculiar way and is suggestive of a turn for the better within the next few weeks. The time is fast approaching when one-half of the preceding area of expansion will be offset. When this time comes, it can be truly said that we have turned the corner. This does not mean that we are about to enter a period of prosperity, but it does mean that we are on the home stretch and have seen the worst. The Babsonchart index today stands at 17 per cent below normal. This is due to the increased building which is evident throughout the country. Moreover, this building boom is only beginning. We may expect," concluded Mr. Babson, "a real scarcity in certain classes of labor during the balance of the year."

Don't burn your bridges behind you unless you are insured. Fish that some people expect to catch are often too big for the hook.

As a rule the less a man has to do the less time he finds to do it in.

Some women want to die before they get old, and others bleach. Every boy believes that some day he will be able to lift a half ton.

DR. HARROWER TELLS OF EARLY WORK

Kiwanis Club Is Given Insight Into His Inspiration

Dr. Henry Harrower was the speaker at the Kiwanis club yesterday, which was given in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce building by the Glenn Inn. Dr. Harrower said he considered it a great privilege to be with such a large body of progressive people, and while he said he did not have a set speech, he would give some of his observations about Glendale and the growth of his laboratory, which is considered by men capable of judging to be the best in the United States.

Dr. Harrower gave a little insight into his early life, which was one of progress in every move he made. Starting as an attaché of a sanitarium back in Battle Creek, Michigan, he gradually worked his way up to manager of a big manufacturing concern, later was transferred to Europe, where he made a careful study of internal secretions and glandular products, until he gathered sufficient information which ultimately resulted in the establishment of the Harrower laboratory in Glendale, which is now selling annually over $1,000,000 worth of medicine to the medical profession and drug concerns throughout the country. The rapid rise of Dr. Harrower was a marvelous achievement, but it truly illustrates what determination backed by education and integrity can accomplish if directed along the right lines.

Dr. Harrower intimated that when he wanted to do something that was really a great benefit to the medical profession, he found that a few of the so-called big men in the east felt that his work was all right, but as he was not a resident of New York, Philadelphia or even Chicago, he could not be given the proper consideration. In other words, unless a man was a John Hopkins graduate, and a resident of the big eastern cities, there was a disposition to ignore his work, no matter how meritorious it might be.

Dr. Harrower was the founder of the society which later became a nation-wide organization, and his works on glandular secretions are to be found in all the big eastern libraries. He entered the manufacturing business because he believed he had a great boon for suffering humanity, and the monetary consideration was second in his mind, he said.

The Kiwanis members were out 100 percent strong, and a most enjoyable luncheon hour was spent. Spencer Robinson was called upon to rehearse the song he is to sing at the Lillian Russell benefit at the Orpheum in Los Angeles, which takes place Sunday at 11 a. m. Dr. Harrower also favored the audience with a vocal solo, which was very fine. Mayor Robinson always sings, and he is singing Glendale into the limelight all over the southland, and the papers of the United States are giving Glendale considerable free boosting in the many mentions given Glendale's "singing mayor," Spencer Robinson.

Charlton & Brainerd, local architects, furnished the silent boost prize in the form of a set of miniature building plans, and the club's prize went to Dr. Anderson on the third draw. City Manager Reeves was in charge of the meeting, and among other things called attention to the fact that the Pasadena Kiwanis club had taken over the playgrounds at Pasadena, and would be responsible for their operation during the summer. He suggested that there were many things Glendale Kiwanis club might do, and Col. Thom suggested that the club might take over the Glendale sewer problem, which of course, (?) was approved on all sides. However, some member suggested that Mr. Thom be made the chairman of the sewer committee, whereupon the matter was dropped for a time, at least.

Several guests were present, and members were complimented by City Manager Reeves for their punctual attendance. Kiwanis members present yesterday were Ray Bentley, Dr. Anderson, H. D. Charlton, C. W. Ingledue, Spencer Robinson, C. W. Murphy, O. W. Anderson, D. H. Smith, E. P. Hayward, C. D. Thom, Ray Goode, M. B. Towman, W. L. Taylor, H. Kuhns, H. A. Pennock, with J. E. Sherburne his guest; Dr. Arnold, Ray Gabard, T. O. Young, R. M. Brown, A. L. Ferguson, Frank H. Pilling, Homer Nielsen, Hyman P. Clark, S. W. Brown, W. H. Reeves, H. L. Henning, E. O. Kiefer, J. H. Wittmeyer, W. T. Hurt, Tom Forst, Fred Deal, J. F. McBride, B. P. Woodard, J. W. Watson, and E. F. Saunders.

MALE AND FEMALE AT THE T. D. & L.

"Male and Female," considered Cecil B. DeMille's greatest picture, with a cast including Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, Theodore Roberts, Lila Lee, Raymond Hutton and Bebe Daniels, is today the attractive program feature at the T. D. & L. theatre. "Male and Female" is from the famous play, "The Admirable Crichton," and, with such a cast, offers theatregoers one of the truly great photodramas of the cinema. Don't fail to see it.

George Oliner, the entertainer, of vaudeville fame, offers his songs and chatter as an added attraction to one of the best shows ever presented in Glendale. "The Good Provider," the Fannie Hurst story, and sequel to the famed "Humoresque," with the identical cast of the latter picture, will be the big show at the T. D. & L. theatre Sunday and Monday.

Every one should have something to do, something to love, something to hope for.

It is easier to join the mob than to argue with it.
